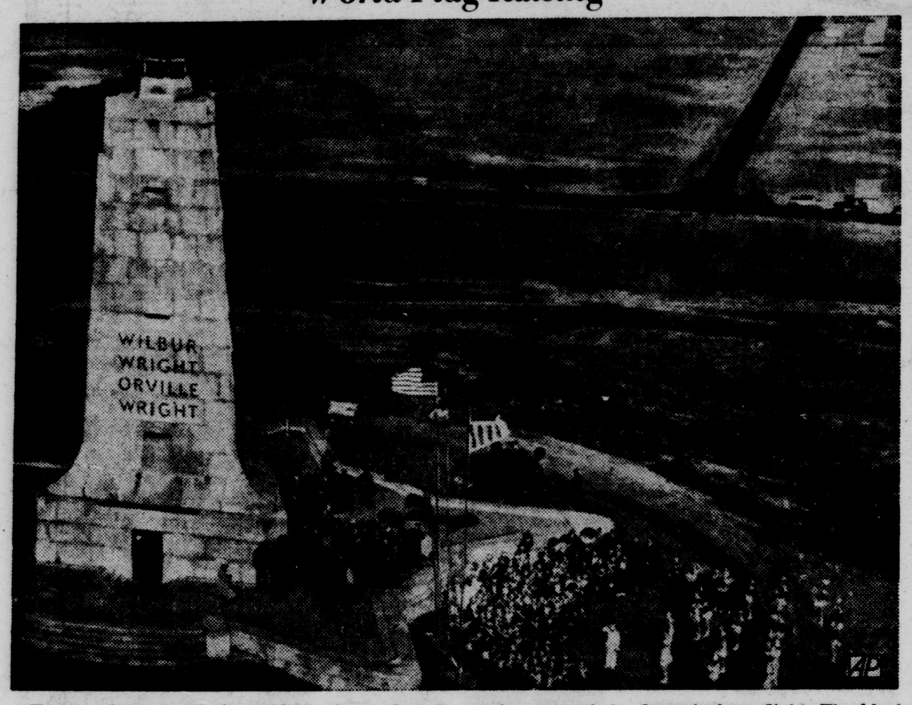
President to Keep Fighting For Atomic Energy Control

World Flag-Raising



From a lofty perch in a U. S. Coast Guard helicopter, this scene shows a world flag-raising ceremony atop Kill Devil Hill at Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 15, in a memorial celebrating the 50th anniversary of the first airplane flight. The black strip, upper right, is where the flight took place. The three flags are the United States, United Nations and International Goodwill.

Allied Try To Win 23 Is Lost Cause

South Korean Reports, However, Three U. S. Soldiers Desire to Return

Panmunjom, Dec. 16 (AP)—The allied campaign to win back balky war prisoners appeared to have collapsed today and an Indian spokesman said 22 Americans and 1 Briton who chose communism are fully aware that time is running out.

Two POW leaders who conferred yesterday with Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya said it made no difference to them that the 90-day period for interviews expires in one week—Dec. 23.

A South Korean prisoner repatriated from the pro-Communist compound today said, however, that three of the 22 Americans want to be repatriated.

Pfc. Kim Mun Du said most of the 77 South Koreans remaining to be interviewed also would ask to return home. He asserted the Communists deliberately stalled further interviews so they would have no choice.

Asks Repatriation

Kim asked his Indian guards for repatriation and was returned to the UN command Wednesday. He said it was possible other prisoners also might ask to be returned.

There appeared to be virtually no chance that the Americans and Briton would agree to attend interviews before the deadline. And the UN command considered other ways of reaching the prisoners—including Christmas carols broadcast over the compound public address system.

The music would be interspersed with appeals to abandon communism and return home, a spokesman said.

One officer said "a number of things" are under consideration, including a request to the Indian command for permission to send explainers right into the compound.

As hope faded for interviewing the unrepatriated Americans, U. S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean left Tokyo for Washington. And he told newsmen he was still hopeful that a Korean peace conference can be arranged even though nothing was accomplished in seven weeks of preliminary negotiations.

Assistant Carries Along

Dean left his chief assistant, Kenneth Young, to continue the negotiations if the Communists apologize for accusing the United States of conniving with South Korea to release 27,000 war prisoners last June.

The spokesman for 17 Allied nations which fought in Korea broke off the talks as a result of the Communist accusation and demanded an apology before returning to the conference hut.

The Reds have given no indication that they will apologize, but Dean said he is confident they will eventually.

South Korea's President Syngman Rhee told newsmen he would give a peace conference a full 90 days to make progress toward unifying Korea before taking independent action. But Rhee emphasized that he would wait only a "certain time" for the conference to get under way.

Will Free Americans

Gen. Thimayya, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, reiterated Wednesday that Indian troops will free unrepatriated Americans, British, Korean and Chinese prisoners or turn them back to their captors on Jan. 22.

The Indian command issued an official statement quoting Thimayya as saying:

"Unless the two commands agree to allow him to have fur-

Mrs. Lewis Walks Out on Hearing at Probe of Rackets

Called as Witness Before Moreland Commission in New York; Tracks Are Basis

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—The blonde widow of slain labor leader Thomas L. Lewis today marched out of a state rackets hearing, refusing to testify.

Her attorney said he had advised her not to be sworn as a witness.

The attractive widow, Mrs. Pauline Bender Lewis, has been called as a witness before the State Moreland Act Commission investigating harness racetrack scandals.

The probe was partly touched off by the murder last August of Lewis, who headed the AFL Building Service Employes Union. It represented racetrack employes.

Handling of the union's welfare fund has figured prominently in the inquiry. Mrs. Lewis was a partner and vice president of the insurance agency administering the fund.

A complicated story of the fund operations was given yesterday at a joint hearing by the State Insurance Department and a special commission investigating harness racing in the state.

It came in the wake of disclosures following the fatal shooting last August of Thomas F. Lewis, president of Local 32-E of the AFL Building Service Employes International Union.

Contained in Testimony

Part of the story of the insurance agency was contained in testimony taken by the harness racing probers in private hearings and made public yesterday by

Thruway Opens Thursday Noon

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said today he had been notified by an Albany thruway official that the spur connecting Route 28 and the expressway just west of the city will be opened at noon Thursday.

Traffic sign and signal details are expected to be completed today at the intersection and at points in the city where thruway traffic will flow. Removal of the barriers tomorrow will open the route between here and Catskill.

Need Stressed to Keep 14-Nation Alliance Intact to Check Communism

Paris, Dec. 16 (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) ministers agreed today that the western Big Three must hold fast against Soviet efforts to break up their 14-nation defensive alliance.

With pledges from American, British and French foreign ministers that NATO will not be surrendered at the proposed January talks with the Russians in Berlin, the NATO ministers began drafting a "hold fast" platform for the west in the final NATO council communique, official sources said.

The ministers unanimously agreed Soviet strategy and the Kremlin's ultimate aim of world domination for communism have not changed even if Moscow agrees to meet in a four-power ministerial conference on the German and Austrian issues. The Russians have not yet replied to the western invitation to such a meeting.

Must Meet Threat

Consequently, according to these sources, the ministers concluded the NATO structure must still be built up to a level adequate to meet the continuing threat of aggression, and must be reinforced by contingents of German troops serving under the colors of a European defense community (EDC) army.

The NATO Council of Ministers went into their closing sessions considerably cheered by the Eisenhower administration's pledge to try to get congressional approval for sharing some U. S. secrets on atom weapons.

The prospects of limited atomic cooperation, raised yesterday by U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, helped ease some of the sting left by Secretary of State Dulles' threat the day before that American aid to Europe may be cut if the European army isn't approved soon.

To Keep Building Secret

Wilson promised only that Congress would be asked to approve letting the NATO nations have "pertinent information" on how to use the atomic weapons America is building. He did not say the allies might be told how to build them themselves.

Nor did he offer to share U. S. atomic weapons with anyone, but observers pointed out he said nothing to the meeting of allied foreign, defense and finance ministers which would exclude the possibility of shipping atomic weapons to Europe, where the United States already has six atomic cannon.

The McMahon atomic energy law at present bars the sharing of U. S. atomic secrets with foreign powers. Wilson said Eisenhower is prepared to ask Congress to amend the law.

Approve Goals

The NATO ministers quickly approved these goals for their 1954 campaign to forge a stronger west European defense wall against Soviety aggression:

1. A 25 per cent hike in air

Stores Are To Close at 9 for Week

Kingston stores will remain open evenings until 9 o'clock, beginning this evening, and continue to observe that closing hour until Christmas eve, December 24, when the usual early closing hours will be effective again.

In order that persons who work during the day may have an opportunity to do their Christmas shopping, store operators will observe the evening hours. Extra clerks will be on hand to handle the additional business and in most stores there is still a wide assortment of merchandise.

One merchant said, "We always look forward to a rush of business when the stores remain open evenings. Many people

Eisenhower Plans Work Spite Reds

Chief Executive Hopes Russians Will Take Part in Proposal He Made to UN

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he will keep right on working for international control of atomic energy even if the Russians turn down his recent share-the-atom proposal.

The President made the statement at a news conference at which he also said he does not intend to ask any change in the Atomic Energy Act which would lead to this country's sharing scientific processes or techniques for building atomic weapons.

Eisenhower said he is by no means giving up hope the Russians will decide to accept the proposal he recently made in a speech to the United Nations—that all the atomic powers join in a limited program of atomic research, with emphasis on peacetime power development.

Would Not Deter Him

But even a rejection of this offer by the Soviets, Eisenhower said, would not stop him from trying to meet the problem of international control in another way.

A reporter asked the President about Secretary of Defense Wilson's statement to the North Atlantic Council in Paris yesterday that Congress would be asked soon to permit the sharing of information on atomic weapons with its NATO allies.

Eisenhower replied that some changes in the law will be necessary before this country can realize the fullest advantages of atomic progress.

But no changes are contemplated, he went on, which have anything to do with the scientific processes involved in developing atomic energy or with the building of atomic weapons.

This appeared to mean that what the administration does contemplate, if Congress approves, is sharing information about the use of atomic weapons and perhaps sharing the weapons themselves with America's allies.

Depends on Circumstances

Along that line Eisenhower said it would depend on circumstances, meaning military circumstances, whether this country turned over atomic weapons to its allies.

He said if war comes America should use its atomic weapons in whatever way would be to the best advantage of the United States. Quite possibly, he said, it would be best to let an ally use American weapons under certain circumstances.

The President said the administration has received no official Soviet reaction to the plan he outlined to the United Nations General Assembly.

At the news conference, the President also:

1. Stated that the general objective of the series of conferences with GOP legislative leaders which he will begin tomorrow is to secure a meeting of minds. The President added that must be

Legion Head Says Strength Lies in Service to Others

State Commander Declares Affairs of Nation Up to Officials Voted by the People

The true yardstick of Legion strength lies not in numbers or wealth "but in the measure of service to which we dedicate ourselves in our own communities," State Commander Paul Samuels of Poughkeepsie told 200 members of the Ulster County American Legion and Auxiliary at the Governor Clinton Hotel last night.

The meeting was in the form of a testimonial dinner honoring Samuels and Mrs. Stanley Autenrith, state president of the Legion Auxiliary.

Guests Present

Among the guests were Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, Mrs. Ida Ashby, Department secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Stanley Matthews, past department president; Mrs. Mildred Whitbeck, Third District chairman; Mrs. Carl Anderson, Third District vice chairman; Mrs. Paul Samuels; Everett Coty, Third District commander; Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, department sergeant at arms; Stanley Lawrence, Third District adjutant; Thomas Bohan, past department vice commander; Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., grand chef de gare passe, and Walter J. Miller, grand chef de gare passe.

Samuels said the Legion should leave to the State Department, the Department of Defense and other governmental agencies the job of taking care of matters which concern them.

Defines Program

"We will not try to make their decisions," he declared. "We will stay in our own backyard. We will stick to our knitting, and save those energies for the programs and the legislation that are rightfully ours, in rehabilitation, child welfare, national security and Americanism."

He said the Legion's opportunity to guide the national destinies was at the polls and that once representatives were chosen they must be solidly supported, "for a country with unity is a country with strength."

"We of the American Legion have justified our existence for over 35 years, not because we were a social organization, which we most certainly are not, but because we are a service organization, dedicated to service to our community, state and nation," the state commander stressed.

"It is one thing to affirm high ideals. It is another thing to

Local Christmas Mail Volume Has Increased

Christmas mail this week began swelling the normal volume in the local postal system and it is expected to reach a peak by the end of this week or early next week, Postmaster William R. Kraft said today.

Extra men are being added to the working force as they are needed. About a dozen have been added to date. The force of extras, when the holiday rush reaches top volume ranges from 30 to 40.

The mail should move along without delaying difficulties, the postmaster said, and he added: "We do not anticipate any piling up or backing up of the mail."

Greenlease Killers Appear Nonchalant

Little, if Any, Attention Is Paid to Friday Execution

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 16 (AP)—The Greenlease kidnap-killers spent part of their time today reading wild west stories and working cross word puzzles, outwardly nonchalant about their execution early Friday.

Carl Austin Hall, 34-year-old playboy, and Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, his paramour, gave no outward signs of cracking as their death in the gas chamber became only a matter of hours.

They pay with their lives, side by side, a few minutes after midnight tomorrow night for the killing of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease which they planned together even before they kidnaped him

Teacher Is Killed

Tuxedo Park, Dec. 16 (AP)—Miss Virginia E. Paine, 23, of 25 Highland Place, Canajoharie, N. Y., a teacher at Cornwall, died today in Tuxedo Hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident early this morning on Route 17 at Southfields. She was a passenger in a car driven by Air Force 2nd Lt. John Visquain, 25, of Belle Plaine, Ia., attached to the Stewart Air Base, Newburgh. Visquain is in serious condition at the hospital. Police said the northbound car left the road and hit a stone abutment.

Wright Flight Is Called Forerunner Of Earth's Changes

Other Benefits Are Cited by Assistant Defense Secretary; Big Show Held

By VERN HAUGLAND
(AP Aviation Editor)

Kitty Hawk, N. C., Dec. 16 (AP)—Donald A. Quarles, assistant secretary of defense said today that aviation—since its birth here 50 years ago tomorrow—has transformed the military geography of the earth.

Quarles said, in a prepared luncheon address, that the art of flight "has not only revolutionized the art of war but has completely changed the relationships of the nations of the world."

"With the possible exception of gunpowder, no other breakthrough in technology has had such a profound effect on the military art," Quarles declared.

"It remains to be seen whether the atomic bomb must be accorded the same preeminent position."

Not Primarily Military

Quarles said he did not mean to suggest that the art founded by Orville and Wilbur Wright, at Kitty Hawk, was primarily military in character.

"Most great technological advances find wide application in peaceful as well as military pursuits and this is no exception," Quarles said.

"The impact of powered flight on the peacetime life and thought of man is at least comparable with the military revolution it has caused."

Quarles spoke as the armed services marshalled the greatest military air tribute ever paid to the Wright brothers and to the place where they flew the world's first powered airplane.

More than 200 airplanes, helicopters and blimps, from a wide range of bases throughout the southern and eastern states, were assigned places in a great air show to commemorate the golden anniversary of powered flight.

Most Elaborate of '53

A Pentagon spokesman said it was easily the most elaborate air event of 1953, "bigger even than the National Aircraft Show at Dayton last fall."

Today was "Defense Day" at

Police Say Ex-Convict Tells Of Strangling Hartford Girl

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 16 (AP)—Detectives say an ex-convict with a police record of attacks on girls has admitted he strangled an 11-year-old girl a week ago tonight.

An AWOL soldier had "confessed" the same crime only hours before, but his story was discredited later.

Det. Lieut. William H. Sullivan identified the prison parolee as Robert Nelson Malm, a gaunt 30-year-old man who has served a jail term for attacks on young girls and a prison term for robbery with violence.

Sullivan said Malm signed a statement, and then was taken out to reenact the crime in the southwest section of Hartford where the girl lived.

Malm broke down later last night after four hours of constant interrogation. He was arrested after he was picked out of a police lineup by a 19-year-old girl who said he attacked her Nov. 22.

Five hours before police announced that Malm admitted the crime, Pvt. John H. Williams, 23, of Hartford wrote a 1,000-word statement saying that he strangled 11-year-old Irene Niederowicz while he was absent without leave from Fort Devens.

Maj. Otto Luedeke, provost marshal of Fort Devens, discounted Williams' story because of discrepancies in the soldier's account. Luedeke said the soldier was charged with being AWOL.

Irene's body was found last Thursday by a policeman in his own back yard. Her scarf,

Third Barn Blaze Occurs In Ruby; Fire Controlled

A small barn on Byrne Lane in the village of Ruby was damaged by fire of unknown origin shortly after dusk yesterday.

It was the third barn fire in the Ruby-Mt. Marion area this month. A fourth fire last Friday afternoon in the unused Ruby schoolhouse was described by authorities as "set."

The Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company dispatched its truck about 5:30 p. m. yesterday to the barn, described by state police as about the size of a two-car garage, and were able to control the blaze before the structure was burned too badly. Contents of the barn were described as "mostly junk."

State police said the barn was owned by Patrick Sweeney, who now resides on Downs street in Kingston. The barn was unused and the house nearby unoccupied, they reported.

Only the northeast corner of the barn was damaged by the blaze which was extinguished shortly after the fire truck reached the scene, it was reported.

State police and the Ulster County Sheriff's Office are investigating.

On Friday, Dec. 4, a barn owned by Rose Stice was destroyed by fire in the village of Ruby, and the following afternoon the Archie Van Benschoten barn at Mt. Marion was destroyed. A flock of 300 chickens, a pony and a cow perished in the Van Benschoten barn fire, with total loss tentatively estimated at $20,000.

The schoolhouse fire, discovered about 3 p. m. Friday, Dec. 11, was the first which authorities listed as deliberately set. Unconfirmed reports indicated that traces of gasoline or kerosene were found near the point of origin and that a five-gallon can was also discovered nearby.

Residents of the fire-conscious Mt. Marion-Ruby area have been on their guard against possible arson attempts for several weeks.

One housewife told The Freeman today that residents of the village were so disturbed they were eating, sleeping and drinking fire. She said they were unable to sleep at night from anxiety, that many of them had barns, animals, coops and chickens.

"I hope there won't be too much more damage before they find the culprit," she said.

Lions Hear City Needs Trees, Urge Project to Keep Them

Kingston, with an average of 1,500 shade trees for each square mile of area, can be the most beautiful city of the Hudson Valley, Martin F. Flayter, horticultural inspector of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets, told members of the Lions Club at a luncheon meeting at the Gevernor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday.

The trees need attention, he said, and since effective spray programs must be applied in springtime, any concerted plan to enlist community support for such a program should begin immediately, Flayter said.

Flayter was brought to Kingston by the Lions community betterment committee, which is studying the possibilities of initiating a project to protect the city's trees from insect and disease injury.

"Some of your trees that fell under the axe of the woodman during past years were unnecessarily taken, had they been given the attention you plan," he told the Lions.

Pledging his full cooperation in any undertaking, Flayter said that the first step is to make the public "tree conscious." He noted that aside from the beauty and cool shade offered, the trees and plants provide oxygen. "Without them," he said, "none of us would be alive.

Flayter revealed that a tree-spraying project had been successfully carried out at the Wiltwyck School at Esopus, and that for the past three consecutive years there has been no evidence of Dutch elm disease. He showed color slides of the Wiltwyck School property, as well as some shots of elm at the U. S. Military Academy at West

Now Conversations Are Guarded for Reason

Danville, Va., Dec. 16 (AP)—Folks in the Ringgold section of Pittsylvania county are careful how they talk on the telephone these days.

There's an eavesdropper—sort of.

John Kuykendall, a resident of the area, has been complaining for three months now that his clock radio picks up all the telephone conversationss—from the opening ring to the final "goodbye."

Telephone company technicians so far have been unable to help much, but the company has assured Kuykendall that "higher level" technicians will be brought in to assist.

Meanwhile, Kuykendall — who says he's not a curious man by nature—insists it's disconcerting to have his favorite breakfast program interrupted by a party line telephone conversation.

And some of the things he hears, Kuykendall says, "I dare not repeat."

Marines Enlist Six Men From Locality

Six area men have enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps, according to T/S Charles C. Awkerman, noncommissioned officer in charge of the local recruiting station in the central post office.

The six are:

Walter T. Tierney, Jr., 21, son of Mrs. Helen Tierney, New Paltz.

Harvey W. Thompson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Thompson, Hurley.

George A. Johnson, 21, of 216 Corbin avenue, Jersey City, N. J.

Gilbert J. Avery, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Avery, Stone Ridge.

Albert Hendrickson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hendrickson, Kerhonkson.

William A. Stone, 18, ward of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Myers, West Shokan.

The new marines enlisted for a three-year period and have been assigned to take their "boot" training at Parris Island, S. C.

Pvt. Thompson and Pvt. Johnson attended Kingston High School. Stone attended Onteora Central School, Boiceville.

Marine Pvt. Johnson served three years with the army in Korea and Japan prior to enlistment in the marines. He was wounded twice in the Korean conflict. He served with the army from 1949 to 1952.

George White Dies

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—George White, the genial, cigar-smoking former governor of Ohio, died here last night at 81. He had been a patient at Good Samaritan Hospital since Dec. 10. The name of the Elmira, N. Y., boy who struck it rich panning for gold in the Klondike was a familiar one on the national political scene. Congressman and Democratic National Committee chairman were two of the positions he held besides his two terms as chief executive of Ohio.

IT'S NO COMFORT TO US

In dwelling upon the peaceful purpose so stirringly voiced by President Eisenhower at the UN, we must not overlook the staggering recital he gave us of the atomic power we hold in our arsenal.

The President said our stock pile of A-bombs and H-bombs is greater than the total explosive force of all the bombs and shells exploded by all belligerents in all the years of World War II. And it is still growing.

He said, too, that one air group could deliver a bomb load over Britain in one mission that would more than match all the bombs dropped on that country through World War II. There are 30 long-range bombers in one group.

Today's atom bombs are 25 times more powerful than those we dumped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. As for the H-bomb, the President said its power is in "the ranges of millions of tons of TNT."

What he said had stunning impact. But the effect upon us obviously would be greater if we understood exactly the power of the H-bomb, if we knew how many different ways we could apply atomic energy in battle, if we knew the exact rather than the approximate size of our stock piles.

These data we cannot have. But, reading between the lines, we can see our greatest security and our greatest peril. For Russia is trying to equal our atomic exploits with each passing day. And there can be no comfort in our bigger and more varied stock pile if the Russians' backlog is big and growing bigger.

PROGRESS TOWARD UNION

The lower house of the Belgian parliament has ratified the treaty setting up a European army. While the Senate has not yet acted, its approval is thought certain. This will probably speed up approval by the Dutch upper house, the lower having accepted the proposal last July. West Germany has completed all steps for ratification.

The keystone of the structure is France. Fear that Germany will dominate the new organization, combined with the incurable squabbling of French politicians, has stymied international progress in that country. Belgium has suffered quite as much from German conquest in two wars as France, yet is willing to participate in a European army on an equality with Germany. Her example may stir France.

At present, however, it looks as if France cannot agree to any action. In her defense, however, be it said that she is holding the line in Indo-China against communism. If she gave way, we would have to take over the Indo-Chinese front or let the Chinese Reds seize it by default.

TAX LAW CHANGES

Beginning January 1 there will be changes in the rates for federal income tax withholding and for exployer tax and employe tax under the Federal Insurance Contribution Act, which is for old age and survivors insurance.

The rate for income tax withholding will be reduced from 20 per cent to 18 per cent. The employe tax and the employer tax for old age and survivors insurance will be increased from 1½ per cent for each tax to two per cent for each tax.

These rates will apply to wages paid on or after January 1, 1954, even though the wages were earned in 1953.

LIKE TAKING DRUGS

It has been said that "accepting government aid is like taking drugs—pleasant at first, habit-forming later, damning a last."

Normally, government aid begins because of some emergency situation. But recipients soon come to regard it as a right. The emergency may pass, but the aid is demanded and given just the same.

Dependence on government, like dependence on drugs, saps the moral and ethical fiber of the people. It makes government the master, not the servant. And, carried far enough, it can bankrupt us, no matter how rich and productive we are.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

STUPID STINGINESS

Ours is a profligate government which pours money into futilities all over the world, but when it comes to those of our own officials whose very office requires dignity of manner, we become absurdly stingy. I refer to Public Law 222, which covers the traveling expenses of Federal justices and judges, including the brethren of the Supreme Court, even the Chief Justice of the United States.

The grant for maintenance expenses actually incurred is $15 a day. I travel widely and constantly and cannot do it on $15 a day, unless I stay at a flophouse or a tenth-rate hotel. The lowest rate for hotel rooms that I have found in large cities is $6 a day; a really respectable room, where it is possible to receive a guest without sitting on a bed, in the same cities, runs between $10 and $12. I have not inquired whether special rates are made for government officials. Certainly little remains for food, pressing clothes after traveling, tips, telephone calls, and other incidentals.

It is amusing that the same Congress enacted a law creating a Commission to study judicial salaries and gives to the members of his Commission $25 per day in lieu of subsistence. Why does it cost a member of this Commission more for expenses than the Chief Justice of the United States or even a Circuit Judge?

It has become a practice to shift Federal judges from their home bases to other cities, often quite distant, to hear cases. Such a judge may be required to be away from home for a long stretch and should, if he so desires, have the advantage of the comfort of his wife. He should not be cooped up in a small room in a lonely hotel to read briefs under the most unsatisfactory environmental conditions. His position and services warrant not only a social dignity but satisfactory physical conditions. He should be able to meet men similarly well placed on a basis of equality.

It cannot be done on $15 a day, nor does the salary-scale of judges warrant expenditures out of their own pockets. Under the present penurious practices, judges must either be chosen from among those who have inherited wealth, or who, having accumulated savings in private practice, seek high honors, or among lawyers who are always in debt, borrowing to maintain a position but never being able to repay. The tiny estate of Chief Justice Fred Vinson was surely not an incentive to a young lawyer who hopes to make a career of the judiciary.

The Commission investigating the subject is required to study, among others, the following:

"The compensation or income currently earned by persons of comparable qualifications in labor, business, the professions, or other private pursuits;

"The sacrifices involved in the acceptance of appointment to the Federal judiciary or of membership in the Congress, including in the case of members of the Federal judiciary the interruption of private practice at the time when it is most remunerative, and the necessity for divorcing onself from outside activities which are productive of income. . . .

"The interruptions to normal family life, resulting in the case of many members of the Federal judiciary from the necessity of holding court at points remote from their residences. . . ."

In connection with compensation of persons of comparable qualifications, the Commission might look into the expense accounts of businessmen and labor leaders. They are sometimes more valuable than salaries.

No officials of our government are more important than our judges, particularly those of the Federal courts. Upon them truly depend our "life, liberty and pursuit of happiness." It used to be that while criticism of municipal and state judges was not unusual, the Federal judiciary was regarded as sacrosanct. That is not true today. Certainly since 1936, many men have been appointed to the Federal bench who do not belong there, either by training or temperament. Even some of the brethren of the Supreme Court have come in for criticism, the appointments being shockingly political for such a high office. Only the most competent and character-proved men in America should sit on the Supreme Court of the United States.

Our judges should be adequately paid; their expense accounts should be in consonance with their positions. If there is no money available for that, why not apply to Point Four for aid?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EMOTIONS CAN CAUSE SKIN DISTURBANCES

Many of us may think of the skin as just a bag holding or covering the various organs, but this is only one of its jobs. Among its other jobs is controlling the temperature of the body, closing and opening the sweat glands as the need arises. The skin is really as important as any other organ of the body.

Another important job done by the skin is the recording of our emotions. Thus, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Gerald M. Frumesi, Denver, Colorado, states: "The skin may reveal emotional states as eloquently as the muscles of facial expression. Control of facial expression may keep the face inscrutable despite inner turmoil but one can't control the changes in the skin such as the blush of embarrassment or the cold sweat of fear, hair standing on end. A repulsive sight makes our skin crawl."

What have the above skin changes to do with skin diseases or disturbances?

Dr. Frumesi refers to the work of Dr. English who describes eight common emotions, some of which are conspicuous in the personalities of patients with certain skin disorders.

"The need for love is one of humanity's greatest hungers. If this hunger is unsatisfied, the resulting frustrations may lead to other unpleasant emotions resulting in itching, scratching, excessive perspiration which may cause skin rashes or aggravate skin eruptions or irritations already present."

Anxiety is the central symptom of many changes in the natural behavior of the individual. "Anxiety may lead to hostility with outbursts of wrath and anger. If this hostility is repressed or controlled, it may cause irritation or actual inflammation of the skin."

It is unfortunate that an individual who lives really a model or consientious life is so often plagued with skin disturbances. "It is an unfortunate paradox that accepted social virtues, such as excessive cleanliness, extreme care of things, a ready sense of blaming one's self, and allowing the other fellow to get away with hostility and aggresiveness, may cause chronic skin eruptions. It would seem that to be civilized, to be mannerly, to be conscientious, and to be ambitious is to expose one's self to neuroses."

The neuroses, which are really emotional disturbances, may cause changes in the skin by releasing certain substances at the nerve endings. These substances with other body factors may cause alterations in the skin such as urticaria (hives).

"Commonly encountered emotions such as insecurity, anxiety, hostility and guilt may cause stimulation of the autonomic nervous system, leading to flushing, sweating, itching and scratching." It should always be remembered that the emotions can cause and aggravate skin disturbances.

Cold Weather Has Set In

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—The fight over reorganization of the Soil Conservation Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture has now become so involved in farm-organization politics that few dirt farmers are aware of all its ramifications.

On the surface, the main row seems to be between Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft and the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. This newest of the farm organizations is just beginning to feel its strength.

Its president, Walter S. Davis, Jr., a League City, Tex., cattleman, accuses Secretary Benson of plotting to destroy the 2500 existin soil conservation districts.

Benson denies it, but his reorganization plan does put the up-to-now independent Soil Conservation Service alongside the old Extension Service and an expanded Research Service in a new Federal-States Relations division under Assistant Secretary of Agriculture J. Earl Jones.

One of the main difficulties of any reorganization of this kind is that soil conservation is the new sacred cow of agriculture.

Hugh H. Bennett, first director of the Soil Conservation Service and now retired, did a tremendous job in selling the country on the need for the prevention of erosion by terracing, contour plowing, building retaining dams, farm ponds and other now generally adopted conservation work.

Districts Are Powerful

Before any soil conservation work could be done, the farmers in a given watershed area had to form a district organization. These organizations have become so powerful in the last 15 years that many congressmen now say that any efforts to reorganize the Soil Conservation Service is politically impossible.

What has happened is that three big Department of Agriculture field forces have been built up to handle various phases of the farm program. As of Jan. 1, Soil Conservation Service had 13,000 employes.

The Production and Marketing Administration had over 11,000 persons in PMA county committees which the Republicans used to charge the Democrats ran as a political machine. Now the PMA committees have been reorganized and the Democrats are reversing the charge.

Finally there is the old-line Extension Service, which works in connection with the states, the land grant colleges, and the American Farm Bureau Federation. This setup runs the county-agent system, with over 12,000 employes, already on the state payrolls.

It is now admitted that the Extension Service may have been slow in taking up soil conservation promotion. It has a good alibi in that it was given no money for this work by Congress and the states. So the job went to the Soil Conservation Service when it was given a special mission through the New Deal.

Soil conservation work and general farm management are so closely related it's difficult to tell where one begins and the other leaves off. What has developed is two sets of experts giving guidance to farmers. In states like Kansas they are said to work in harmony. In states like Missouri they have been in frequent conflict.

Rivalry Between Groups

An unconscious rivalry developed between the two services and their sponsoring organizations—the Farm Bureau and the Association of Soil Conservation Districts. This is in spite of the fact that county agents probably organized 95 per cent of the conservation districts.

In 1948 hearings on Department of Agriculture reorganization, the Association of Land Grant Colleges got into the act briefly. Spokesmen for the colleges said there was duplication between the two services and that they should be consolidated.

In 1951 at Houston, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, as president of the Association of Land Grant Colleges, made a speech in which he advocated greatly increased agricultural research and a larger role for the land grant colleges.

Last summer Secretary Benson issued a pamphlet in which he urged more research and education through the land grant colleges as the solution to many farm problems. Then he announced his reorganization plan which abolished the regional offices of the Soil Conservation Service.

Out of all these more or less unrelated actions, a story has been widely circulated that Secretary Benson wanted to turn soil conservation over to land grant colleges. It has been further reported that the Extension Service directors held a meeting at which it was voted they should take over soil conservation work.

Both of these stories are officially denied, but they are still being spread. And that's what all the shouting is about.

Charge Is Officials Shrug Shoulders and Do Nothing About 944 Missing GIs

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 15—This is an age of cruel indifference toward some of those human beings who go forth to make the maximum sacrifice for their country.

The story of the forgotten 944 Americans whom the Chinese Communists have refused to return is a tragic example of how officialdom shrugs its shoulders and, fearful of offending allies, does nothing about the American boys who were supposed to have been returned when the Korean truce was signed.

There are 944 of them—separate and distinct from the twenty-two who have been "brain washed" at the repatriation camp. These 944 Americans were spirited away to hiding places behind the Iron Curtain because they are technicians valuable to the Communists. This happened just before the truce came.

The Korean truce agreement pledged that all prisoners should be returned. The American government knew about the 944 and still kept on talking at Panmunjom. Now the talks are lagging and the "political conference," which was hailed as the great sequel to the armistice, is apparently not to be held—no time or place for it has been fixed, and there is no sign that such a conference will ever be called.

Meanwhile, the United States government—which once upon a time would take drastic measures to secure respect for its troops—now says nothing and does nothing about the 944 Americans still held by the Communists in flagrant violation of the armistice terms.

Dispatches from Panmunjom show that out of the 944 Americans, there are about 312 from the United States Air Force, nineteen marines and three navy men and about 610 ground troops. The government here knows a lot about them, and so do the officials of the UN Command in the Far East. But the whole thing has been soft-pedaled. It is as if the American government were afraid to let the people in this country know the facts because some might demand that action be taken. The facts concerning the prisoners have been gathered from fellow prisoners who have been returned in recent months, and from other sources. Many of the missing Americans are technicians who, under compulsion can be forced to help the Communists on the instruments of modern war such as are involved in airborne and ground operations.

The Americans who were returned at Panmunjom have been intensively questioned, and the data gathered in a comprehensive manner. Most of the missing now have been identified. It is known they wanted to come home. But the Communists, just before the fighting stopped, took them away from Korea.

Except for any army communique last September, there has been no official protest or anything said publicly about the matter. Military men in the Far East refer to the missing men now as a "diplomatic problem." State Department officials say the missing men are not yet under their jurisdiction, and will not be until it is known whether there is to be a "political conference" to attempt to settle the Korean questions. It's a buck-passing fiasco.

The Communists doubtless expect to use the missing prisoners as pawns—as a means of forcing admission of Red China into the UN, or the withdrawal of United Nations troops from Korea.

This humiliating story is well known in official circles. But there is a callousness nowadays about such things. The Dulles statement not long ago, confessing that it is difficult to do the right thing for America nowadays because our allies might be offended, was made apropos of criticism that the European allies were continuing to trade with the Communists. One wonders how long it is going to be before boys who are drafted are going to ask if they are to be sent to battle in "local wars" and then abandoned. For the troops that went to Korea were not permitted to use maximum power to win the victory, as recommended by Gen. MacArthur. This was because our allies did not approve.

With all the enthusiasm manifested by so many Americans for the UN, that organization doesn't seem to care a bit, either, about the 944 Americans held captive and forced into slavery while fighting under the United Nations banner. The families of the missing Americans do care, however, and maybe some other Americans do, too. The problem of the 944 Americans cannot be suppressed. It is an example of the moral cowardice of present-day diplomacy in alliances that work only one way—the sending of money and supplies to allies without any reciprocal agreement to defend the rights of American citizens who went to war in Korea in their behalf.

N. Y. Recovers From News Strike, But Not Radio-TV

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—(NEA)—New York is just beginning to recover from its lost week and two days. The city's citizens are catching up on the nine days of newspaper reading they missed during the strike.

To aid the catching up process, the New York Times, in its first post-strike Sunday issue, printed the nine front pages it couldn't run during the walk-out. And other New York dailies helped New Yorkers catch up on other vital business—the comics—by various methods of recapturing the continuity.

But radio and television will never recover the face they lost. Their reputation as mediums of information were bruised, bent and broken, and never again will they be able to challenge the press as news disseminators.

They gave it a good try, but couldn't come close to filling the gap.

During the Nine Empty Days, people wandered the streets and went about their work with blank heads. Every hour on the hour, and sometimes on the half-hour, they'd huddle around radios and TV sets and a smooth voice would dole out newsy nutshells.

The strike proved one thing—you can't live on a diet of nutshells. Once in a while the mind craves a good, solid nutmeat.

To satisfy that gnawing mental hunger, New Yorkers searched for any stray bit of newsprint. They would nostalgically throng around the sad, deserted newsstands. They arranged for out-of-town friends to smuggle in such poor substitutes as the Yale Daily News, brought in by Connecticut commuters, and the Daily Princetonian, imported from New Jersey.

They turned in desperation, to magazines and books. The subways were full of people who had nothing better to do than look at each other, which can be horrible on an empty stomach. In the sheer necessity of doing something, anything, they ate countless candy bars and there was, for a time, a grave danger that galloping obesity would be the strike's end result.

Television news, unfortunately, only whetted the appetite for more details. A TV newscast usually consists of a few headlines plus some gripping newsreels of motorcycle races or the latest fashion for dolls.

And TV completely ignores the intimate local news that is a newspaper's pride and joy — society pages and the obituaries. Perhaps this strike may spur some TV producer to package a couple of shows called "Who Died When" and "Who's Marrying Who, and What Did She Wear?"

From an economic standpoint, the strike taught some pretty impressive lessons, too.

It was pre-Christmas season, generally regarded as a time when people are shopping-minded. But business was slow. The big stores, many for the first time, turned to radio and TV to advertise their wares. Business was still slow.

The Broadway movie theatres were hard hit — nobody knew what was playing where. A friend went to the Radio City Music Hall on the evening that a new show began. It was the usually popular annual Christmas stage show plus a new Esther Williams splash hit. My friend went at seven, a time the Music Hall is ordinarily a mob scene with ushers.

He reparts that there were plenty of empty seats.

The tip-off on the value of department store and theatre advertising was the size of the New York dailies immediately after the strike. The New York Times hit 96 pages—on a week-day. Department stores took page after page of full-page ads.

Gimbels, one of the biggest stores, came right out in its ad and told how it had been affected. The ad was headed: "The 'no newspaper' situation hit Gimbles right where it hurts."

But the average newspaper reader wasn't worried about the stores. He was more concerned about his own lack of knowledge about what was going on. The extra newcasts simply repeated a few top headlines, but never went beyond the usual run of radio or TV news. A sentence or two is about the quota.

Those of us who lived through the awful terror now know what a newspaper really means. We'll never wrap a fish in one again.

Ladies' Aid of Church Exchanges Yule Gifts

Tillson, Dec. 16—At the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Tillson Reformed Church, held last Thursday in the church hall, Christmas presents were exchanged among the 27 members and guests present.

During the regular business session, the following new members were accepted: Mrs. Emma Dippel, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Mrs. Joel Woolsey and Mrs. Harry E. Stahl.

Entertainment followed the business session, including a Bible reading by Shirley Craig, piano solo by Barbara DeWitt, solo by Leslie Barringer, duet by Marilyn Harvey and Diane Deyo, and a solo by Carol Clark.

Refreshments were served. Mrs. Arthur Deyo was chairman in charge of the activity.

Christmas Program Is Set by Home Bureau

Tillson, Dec. 16 — The Tillson Home Bureau will hold a Christmas party at the Tillson Reformed Church Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Gifts will be exchanged and refreshments served. The members of the Bloomington Home Bureau have been invited to attend.

The refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. Millard Sutherland Mrs. Vito DeBenedetto, Mrs. Wilfred Doolittle and Mrs. Donald Wood. On the decorating committee are Mrs. John Schultz, Mrs. Helen Aldridge and Mrs. Walter Gibbons. The entertainment committee consists of Mrs. John Kline, Mrs. Arnold Hutchins, Mrs. Joy Marrow and Mrs. Eileen Birchell.

Village Notes

Tillson, Dec. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Urbelis are spending a few weeks in Florida.

Mrs. Walter Born and Mrs. George Taylor spent the weekend visiting in New York city.

They Got Action

North Haven, Conn. (AP)—A special town meeting authorized this community of 10,000 to spend $80,000 for a school addition. The meeting lasted four minutes. Ten citizens attended.

So They Say...

I have never suggested any change which would have the effect of reducing the long-time American farm income, and I never shall.
—Agriculture Secretary Benson.

Opening lead—♣ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you're playing regular rubber bridges you don't have to win every possible trick. Your main objective is to make your contract. Only when that is assured should you pay much attention to possible overtricks. South lost sight of this elementary fact in the hand shown today.

West opened the singleton queen of clubs only because he couldn't develop any fondness for any other lead. He was afraid that a trump lead would give declarer a free finesse; the diamonds were obviously a good suit to stay away from; and there was nothing attractive about leading away from the king of hearts.

Singletons as high as the queen are seldom picked for the opening lead, but in this case it seemed to be the least of evils.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace and should have gone right after his contract by drawing trumps and giving up two club tricks to the king and jack. He would make a total of six trump tricks and two clubs.

Instead, South decided to go adventuring after extra tricks. He led a heart from the dummy at the second trick. It looked safe enough to try for a heart ruff in dummy, but this one little slip was enough to defeat him.

East hopped up with the ace of hearts to cash his high clubs and then give West a club ruff. This took away from declarer what should have been his second club trick.

West then returned a trump. Declarer won the dummy's king and led another heart, hoping to develop either a heart trick or a ruff in dummy. Neither developed, for West was able to win the second round of hearts and lead another trump. This limited declarer to six trump tricks and the ace of clubs.

Dutch Plan Koran

The Hague, Netherlands (AP)—For the first time in history the Koran, equivalent of the Bible for the Moslems, will be published in the Dutch language in the Netherlands. A prewar edition was published in the then Netherlands East Indies. Jhulam Bashir, leader of the Moslem Mission in the Netherlands, says, "Dutch people like to question a great deal, but Islam gives the answers." Dutch converts are allowed up to four wives, in principle, but it never occurs, Bashir says.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

"X" Corporation is in the Excess Profits brackets. In its management, it has many Bees gathering honey. The politicians said they were gathering "too much," so the Government lassoed them with the Excess Profits' rope — which means they returned 82 per cent of the "honey."

Mr. Hutton

Why not call this tax by its right name? It is a penalty tax on what the busy Bees produce.

The little Bee believes the Big Bee carries the load and he is getting a free ride. The Excess Profits tax is the political dressing on the tax structure to fool the little Bee. The busy, big Bee must add the penalty tax on the price of all goods produced — or get the heck out of business. The fact is, the little Bee is not getting a free ride; he pays the Excess Profits tax.

When Government puts a penalty tax on success, that is a form of Statism—tyranny.

Business has the Constitutional right to engage in the Enterprise System and employ labor.

"X" Corporation has over 500,000 employes, and it buys products from 10,000 little businesses. That's Big Business, and annoying to the left-wingers.

When Government destroys Big Business or Little Business, it destroys the inventive, venturous and valorous spirit of man.

When the busy big Bees are destroyed, then the busy, little Bees will have hard sledding, and vice versa.

Plattekill

Plattekill, Dec. 15—Pvt. John W. Potts, son of Mrs. Dorothea Allen of this place, is enjoying a furlough at his home here, prior to receiving overseas assignment. Pvt. Potts has completed his eight weeks of basic training with the Ninth Infantry Divisions at Fort Dix, N. J. and has been assigned to Company K, 364th Infantry Regiment.

J. Edward Harris attended the wedding of his son, Gilmore Harris to Patricia Liggett of Washington, Pa., recently, and was best man at the wedding ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Harris have returned from their wedding trip to Dallas, Texas, and will make their home in Grand Prairie, Texas.

Edmund F. Wager, Jr., is employed by the DuPont Co., in Newburgh, where his father, Edmund F. Wager has been employed more than 25 years.

The regular meeting of Plattekill Grange was held on Saturday evening, when Business Enterprises of the Community was the topic of discussion and program. Other features of the evening's program of entertainment included musical selections, reading's, and What's My Line sketch with young people of the Grange comprising the panel. Hosts and hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cook, Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Mr. and Mrs. John Labriola, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Silberling, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Langlitz, Jean Steffe, Albert Langlitz and LeRoy Fowler.

Robert E. Pugsley of Newburgh, formerly of Plattekill, has purchased one of the building's on the 60-acre Thedora Gordon estate on Route 9W, which he will convert into a dwelling house. The estate is to be known as the Dogwood Hills development, restricted, and is planned on the site of the loft Gordon estate, by four well-known business men of Newburgh. The development is in the Balmville section, and commands many charming views of the Hudson Valley. Pugsley was born in Plattekill, and his father was a carpenter in this section for many years.

A Church Fellowship supper was served on Saturday evening, at 6:30 at the home of Mrs. Gottfried Loertscher. Receiving of members in the Plattekill Methodist Church was, conducted on Sunday of the past week, with community vespers at 7:30, opening the Christmas season. The annual Christmas party of the Willing Workers of the Plattekill Methodist Church will be held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Loerscher. The junior choir of the local church will go caroling on Saturday evening and those desiring to participate in the favored Christmas custom, are advised to contact Mrs. Robert Hollis at the Methodist parsonage, or Mrs. James Smith. The annual Church Christmas party will be held at the parsonage on Friday at 8 p. m.

Bessie Gerow of New Paltz and Miss Glennie M. Wager of Modena, visited Mr. and Mrs. Vernard B. Wager on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dunn and family were among recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mould and family at Montgomery.

Ruth Martino and Wilson Edmunds, Jr., of the junior class of the Wallkill Central School were chosen by their classmates to represent the Wallkill School at the citizenship conference at Syracuse last weekend. They were elected as the outstanding boy and girl of the junior class. Miss Martino is the youngest daughter of Charles Martino of Plattekill.

Drouth Was Tough

Fort Scott, Kan. (AP) — The ground got so hard during the drouth, says farmer F. E. Krebs, that a power auger for post holes jacked up the tractor instead of going into the ground.

Answer Torn Out

Hibbing, Minn. (AP)—No one answered when Fred Odegard, acting police chief, telephoned a filling station repeatedly to get details about a burglary. The chief got a ringing signal each time, and he was correct in assuming someone was on on duty. Then the chief realized why there was no answer. Burglars had ripped the telephone off the wall. The instrument, taken to police headquarters for fingerprinting, was at his elbow.

Elephant Bones Found

Benson, Ariz. (AP)—The bones of an elephant were found buried near here by a boy hunting rabbits. The remains were estimated at 10,000 years old by Prof. Edwin B. Sayles, curator of the Arizona State Museum.

UNCLE EF

That flier, Crossfield, may have thought he flew a rocket plane at twice the speed of sound, but Aunt Molly Harmsworth wonders if he ever measured the speed of the voices of some mothers when they're calling children home of an evening.

Caught in the Holiday Rush?

At least Santa has no traffic problems. When his famous team of Donder, Blitzen & Co. take to the skies, it's clear sailing all the way. But the rest of us are sometimes delayed by holiday crowds and traffic. Even long distance phone calls may be affected.

During the Christmas Eve and Christmas Day "rush" we will have every available line and switchboard in service. But the volume of calling will be so heavy that calls to some places may be delayed.

If you plan to make any long distance calls during this period, here's a suggestion that will help get the holiday calls through faster: call by number when you can.

And, if we don't get a chance to say it in person, "A very Merry Christmas to all of you from all of us." New York Telephone Company.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Those who remember the old Ice Age along the river and creek when ice was harvested along these shores may be interested to get the Red Hook Advertiser of Dec. 3, 1953. In that issue is the first of four installments of a book called A Forgotten Industry written by a well-known lawyer and author of that locality. Harry Arnold wrote in part: "My father was one of the old time river superintendents, having charge of the ice houses generally at West Park, Staatsburg and Barrytown and many times loaded ice not only from those places, but also at Glasco, Turkey Point, Parkers and other places. West Park is across the river from Hyde Park, the home of ex-President Roosevelt, and the summer home of Alton B. Parker, a candidate for the presidency, was only a short distance from the Parkers' ice house."

It seems this book A Forgotten Industry came out around 1937 when it received notice in The New York Herald-Tribune in January of that year. I remember when men from Rondout "worked on the ice." Even very young boys would work there, and it was often said, "He left a boy and came back a man." The work was so hard and in fresh cold air most of the time and they ate so much that they came back grown in weight and height. The item of The Tribune said in part: These ice houses were monster frame buildings, that compared even with modern industrial buildings in size. In an age before ice cubes they cut and stored away some four to five million tons of large ten inch cakes of ice for the metropolitan area alone. We had a large number of those ice houses up our way and as the industry was no longer in use, some burned down others just fell apart.

For those who cannot remember real winters perhaps item of Feb. 10, 1925 will explain a little: "Taxi drivers across Hudson, abandoned the use of their autos for transportation of passengers to and from Rondout to Rhinebeck for sleighs because of rough honey-combed ice." It took a good strong roof in those days to withstand the ice and snow which would pile on it and stay there for weeks. Back around 1916 or 1917 the trolley had to snow plow its own tracks all night after a heavy storm. They had a special rugged car for that work with a snow plow in front to clean the tracks, and early in the morning before the rest of the street or sidewalks were touched, early risers would walk the track. Some of the below zero days of the past were: January 5, 1904 when it went to 20 below in Kingston and stayed there all day. January 12, 1912 was another with 31 below zero. Feb. 24, 1914 it hit 22 degrees below zero. So there must have been plenty of ice to harvest in such winters.

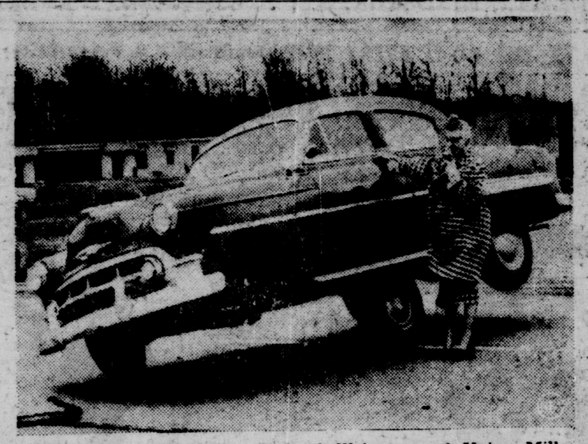
I do not remember completely frozen river or creek in the last 25 years. Before that when my father used to take me across the frozen Rondout Creek on foot to see my grandparents in Port Ewen it was no novelty. Sometimes on the other side, Rodman's rig would pick us up, when my father called them some half hour before and take us up the steep slippery Sleightsburg hill. I liked that as we were under a big fur lap rug. From my grandmother's window in Port Ewen we could see much of the Hudson river and on such cold days, ice-sail boats would be out, flying around like pieces of paper in the wind. The The steep hill near my grandmother's would be a busy place for sleigh-riding. Winter meant very special fun in those days.

Fire Starts Cleanup

West Hartford, Conn. (AP)—Firemen did double duty at the YMCA. First, they put out a fire in a cup-shaped chandelier. Then they cleaned out of the other chandeliers paper scraps, a paper airplane, two golf balls and 20 table tennis balls.

Picks Wrong Car

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—It's bad enough to have a traffic accident but a lot worse to do what Cleve Mayers did. He bumped his pickup truck into an automobile which had halted for a stop sign. The driver of the car was Columbia Chief L. J. Campbell.



WHEELY LUCKY—Mrs. Richard Wakeman, of Union Mills, Ind., holds her car in balance as strong winds rock it. She was traveling about 50 miles-per-hour when the front wheel came off. The car went off the road and veered back into the path of the rolling wheel. The car tipped up and came down on the wheel.

Deaths Reported

(By The Associated Press)

Barcelona, Spain—Bertha Belmore, 70, veteran actress who first appeared in New York as Portia in Julius Caesar in 1912 and later was in the Ziegfeld Follies with W. C. Fields and Will Rogers.

Fond Du Lac, Wis.—Dr. Timothy A. Hardorove, 79, nationally prominent dental researcher and a former vice president of the American Dental Assn. Died Tuesday.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Charles Doak Lowry, 89, former assistant superintendent of Chicago public schools and a member of the school system for 45 years. Born in Ripley, Ohio. Died Tuesday.

Peck of Trouble

Roseville, Calif. (AP)—Woodpeckers pecked more than 100 holes in his roof before Milton H. Kendrick appealed to Police Chief Emmet McCrary, who said "use your own judgment." Kendrick shot two woodpeckers with an air rifle. The others flew away.

Merry-Go-Round Being Built for Woodstock Fair

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — For the first time in its over a quarter-century history, the Woodstock Library Fair will have next summer, its own merry-go-round complete with horses and possibly even a couple of swans. It was announced at a trustees meeting Thursday night through the efforts of Lewis Wilson, trustee, the machinery and platform for the merry-go-round had been obtained.

The six prancing steeds which will encircle the platform and possibly two swan seats, if there is room for them, are being hand carved by William Spanhake, owner of the saw mill in Wittenberg. Spanhake is also renowned in this area as one of the finest square dance fiddlers and callers.

Spanhake, who has been carving merry-go-round horses in his spare moments for many years, learned the craft as a young man in Hanover, Germany, where his uncle owned a merry-go-round and they began to make new horses for it.

In his workshop on the second floor of his home adjoining the mill in Wittenberg, Spanhake explained the intricate process of making a durable and attractive wooden horse. Contrary to their sturdy appearance, merry-go-round horses in the finest tradition are hollow. They are constructed in sections, treated inside with hot linseed oil to prevent their rotting or splitting. After they are carved, even to lips and teeth, eyes and mane, the sections are securely joined together and finally the bright coats of paint applied. The result is a sturdy, yet lightweight animal with a typically carnival prance.

Spanhake prefers to make his own designs and carves them from poplar or basswood, which he says is native wood "grown right here."

Many Have Swans

"If they are needed and we can fit them in," Spanhake added, "I may even make a couple of swans, the kind the younger children like to ride in."

In his shop, which is unique in that it contains an assortment of violins as well as woodworking equipment, Spanhake had just completed a large horse which was mounted on rockers.

"I've just finished this one for the children, polio patients at the hospital in Haverstraw." It was a light grey little steed, ready for a small person to ride, saddled and bridled. "The ones for the merry-go-round," he said, "will be larger than this one."

Spanhake expects to have the six horses completed by the first of June, in plenty of time for their appearance at the annual fair on the last Thursday of July.

Gets Suspended Sentence

James Burtsell Greaux, 40, of 55 Van Buren street, who was arrested Nov. 27 on a disorderly conduct charge, was given a suspended sentence of 180 days in jail by City Judge Raymond J. Mino today. The information said he was charged with using indecent language before a group of girls. A former plea of innocent was changed to one of guilty and the sentence was suspended "pending good behavior." Attorney William H. Grogan appeared for Greaux and John Wilkie represented the district attorney's office.

Police Say Student Admits Assault

San Francisco, Dec. 16 (AP)—An eighth grade honor student yesterday brutally beat a 14-year-old neighbor girl with an iron pipe as she ran screaming for mercy through her fashionable home.

Mercy hospital attendants said today the victim red-haired Linda Frey, suffered these injuries:

Four front teeth knocked out . . . lips cut and swollen . . . head badly gashed . . . three fingers on her left hand broken . . . index finger almost severed at the first joint.

Homicide inspectors Al Nelder and Ralph McDonald said Crisanto (Rocky) Castro, Jr., 13, confessed to the beating and was held on a charge of assault to to commit murder.

"Something just came over me," the youth said. "I knew I shouldn't do it but something kept pushing me. When I realized what I had done it was too late. I wasn't mad at her."

Tell Castro's Story

Nelder and McDonald said Castro told them:

He went to the girl's St. Francis Wood District home in the late afternoon while her father, Walter Frey, an oil company distributor, was at work and her mother was Christmas shopping.

Rocky asked to borrow some paper, then suddenly attacked Linda with a 14-inch piece of ¾ inch pipe.

He chased her through the house, bashing repeatedly at her head and face. Her fingers were crushed and broken when she tried to ward off the blows.

The inspectors said the girl made her way to the basement garage. Blood marked the spot where Linda had clawed at the door in an effort to escape before she lost consciousness.

Her screams attracted a neighbor, Don Jebian, who found Castro hysterically running in circles in the garage. He assumed the boy had just found the badly beaten girl, who was rushed to a hospital.

When Linda regained consciousness she named Castro as her assailant.

Nelder and McDonald said the youth confessed.

Continued in Supreme Court today was the negligence action brought by Mrs. Maria Kramarchuk against the Adirondack Transit Lines, Inc., and another. The case was still with the plaintiff at the morning session. Two actions were announced settled, a negligence action brought by James Folts against Carl Schoeb, John A. Bonomi for plaintiff and Turner & Murphy for defendants, and a negligence action brought by Alvena Davis against Andrew Wenke, et al. with Arthur A. Davis, Jr., for plaintiff and Arthur E. Ames for defendants.

CornGrowersHave Meeting Scheduled For January 15th

Hudson Valley sweet corn growers from eight counties will meet here January 15 for a conference on sweet corn quality, it has been announced by William H. Palmer, Ulster county agricultural agent, general chairman of the event.

Growers, buyers, and Cornell University specialists will review varieties, disease and insect control, and marketing techniques to improve quality in the 1954 crop. New York ranks third in the nation in the production of market sweet corn.

A panel discussion on hydrocooling, icing and handling sweet corn will be presented by George Barthel, a grower from Wawarsing; Walter Kessel, Karney, N. J., buyer for American Stores Co., and Prof. F. M. Isenberg of Cornell.

Profs. Charles Chupp and C. I. Hannon of the plant pathology department will discuss disease problems, while Prof. J. Alfred Adams of the State Agricultural Experiment Station field laboratory at Poughkeepsie will handle insect control.

Prof. Lloyd Davis, Cornell economist, will present the outlook in sweet corn production, and Prof. D. W. Barton of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva and Agent Palmer will report on suitable varieties.

North Central Area Has Cold Weather

(By The Associated Press)

Icy blasts from central Canada sent temperatures tumbling to 20 degrees below zero in the midwest today.

It was the coldest weather of the season over the north central region. But most of the mid-continent felt the sting of the wintry weather. Freezing temperatures extended into Texas.

At the same time, cold air pushed into sections of the southeast. It was around freezing in parts of northern Florida Readings were in the 30s in sections of the east Gulf coast. The season's coldest weather blanketed Florida with frost to the Everglades.

Snow Covers Midwest

Snow covered most of the midwest cold belt and northerly winds ranging up to 25 miles an hour resulted in drifting in some areas. However, only light falls and flurries were reported during the night in the northern plains and the Great Lakes region eastward to New York and southward to Kentucky.

North Dakota and Minnesota were the coldest states. It was 20 below early today in Fargo and Grand Forks, N. D., as the icy air pushed across the border and headed east and southward. It was -17 at International Falls, Minn., 12 below in Duluth and zero in Minneapolis.

Temperatures were above seasonal levels in the Rockies, the far west and the far southwest.

Frost in Florida

Miami, Fla., Dec. 16 (AP)—The season's coldest weather blanketed Florida today and light frost was reported as far south as Fort Myers on the west coast.

Lowest temperature reported was 30 at Cross City. It was 31 at Tallahasse, 34, at Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, 36 at Orlando, 39 at Vero Beach and 40 at Fort Myers and Pensacola.

The low at Miami was 46, while Key West again was the warmest spot in the state with a crisp 57.

Former Resident's Daughters Appear In Showman Photo

Dolarita Heaney, 13, and her sister, Dorothy Heaney, 11, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heaney, formerly of Kingston, appeared in a picture published in The Freeman Monday night, it was learned today.

Dolarita and Dorothy are the granddaughters of Joseph F. Heaney, formerly of 45 Foxhall avenue, who now resides in Chicago.

The girls' father was born in this city.

William A. Brady

The funeral of William A. Brady was held Tuesday at 9 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, and at St. Mary's Church 9:30, where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly. Responses to the Mass were by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono, choirmaster-organist. Many relatives and friends assisted at the Mass. During the time the body reposed in the funeral home scores of family acquaintances called to offer their sympathy to the bereaved. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, PR, VF. called. St. Mary's Holy Name Society assembled in the home Monday night, and assisted Father Farrelly in recitation of the Rosary. A delegation from the Bull Markets, Inc., called to pay respects. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where Father Farrelly gave the final blessing. The bearers were Robert Boyle, Michael Amarello, William Radatz, James Leonard, John Duffy, and Thomas Kiernan.

Montagu Acquitted

Winchester, England, Dec. 16 (AP)—Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, wealthy 27-year-old nobleman, was acquitted today of a charge of committing a serious offense against a 15-year-old boy scout. An all-male jury disagreed on a second charge alleging indecent assault against the same boy and Judge George Lynskey discharged the jury. The jury deliberated more than two hours. The famous old Norman Court was packed with titled people and ordinary folk.

Navy Plane Missing

Tokyo, Dec. 16 (AP)—A U. S. Navy Privateer amphibious plane carrying a crew of nine is missing and presumed lost near Guam, navy headquarters here said tonight. The plane was tracking a typhoon through the Pacific and was last heard from at 4 p. m. (2 a. m. EST). The plane had only three hours fuel supply at that time.

Mrs. Lewis Walks

harness racing Commissioner George Trosk. Alphonse C. Corcillo, head of the agency, was quoted as testifying in private:

The agency was founded in 1947 and licensed in 1948 as the Alcor Agency Inc. Among the officers were Corcillo and Lewis' wife, Pauline Bender Lewis, whose stock was carried in her maiden name at Lewis' insistence. She has been named as owner of a third of Alcor stock.

Mrs. Lewis remained with the agency and its successors, A. C. Corcillo Inc. and Welfare Services Inc. She took no active part in the business but received a total of $66,035 from the agency from April, 1949, to last Aug. 4.

In January, 1952, the agency employed as labor consultants Joseph J. Delaney and Richard H. Nolan. Delaney succeeded jailed labor extortionist Joseph S. Fay as an international vice president of the AFL Operating Engineers; Nolan is the engineers' assistant eastern district representative.

Corcillo finished this portion of his testimony, saying he could not remember consulting the two.

Sums Are Cited

From January, 1952, to last Aug. 4 Delaney received a total of $13,650 from the agency and Nolan received $9,100 as Delaney's assistant, according to Harness Racing Commission accountant Benjamin Blattner. The accountant said the total of $22,750 was the same amount as Mrs. Lewis and Corcillo each received from the agency in the same period.

Private testimony of Delaney and Nolan also was read into the record at yesterday's hearing. Delaney was quoted as saying he was never consulted on labor problems except when he ran into Lewis.

"Lewis would always ask me, 'Joe, what's new?'," Delaney said.

The Corcillo Agency was set up at about the same time Lewis' local won a welfare fund from the Bronx Realty Board. The trustees of the fund were Lewis for the union and Joseph Teichman for management.

Gormley Lumber Chauffeur Hurt As Truck Hits Tree

Chris Pendall of Phoenicia was apparently seriously injured today, according to Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police, when a lumber truck he was driving hit a tree on the highway near Pine Hill.

Dunn said the truck, owned by the Gormley lumber firm, of Phoenicia, was badly damaged in the crash, and that lumber was scattered for 60 feet in the area around the tree that was struck.

The trooper said Pendall was removed to the Margaretville Hospital, apparently in serious condition, after the mishap which occurred shortly after 1 p. m.

Possible cause of the accident was undetermined, because of the serious condition of the driver, who was not able to answer questions.

St. Remy

St. Remy, Dec. 16—The Christmas party for the children in the St. Remy Fire District will be held Dec. 20 at 2 p. m. in the firehall. Families who were not contacted are requested to leave names of the children and ages at the post office or contact Harry Havlin. Families who would like to contribute towards the party may leave their contributions at the post office.

The Sunday school Christmas entertainment will be held Saturday, Dec. 19, at 8 p. m. at the church under the supervision of Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Elliott.

The school Christmas entertainment will be held Dec. 18 at 1 p. m.

Eisenhower, Truman Names Were Employed

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Witnesses testified today that the names of President Eisenhower and former President Truman were used without authority in a disabled American veterans fund raising campaign.

One witness said the DAV Service Foundation raised more than 21 million dollars in the three-year period ending last June 30 and that 18 per cent of this amount was disbursed for welfare purposes.

The testimony was given before a state joint legislative committee investigating charity fund raising methods.

Miles H. Draper, trustees board chairman of the DAV Service Foundation, defended the committee's fund raising methods.

He said puzzle contests and the sending of inscribed fountain pens through the mail were intended to attract public interest and financial support, and he challenged the committee to offer any other method by which the foundation could raise funds at a lower cost.

NATO Ministers

power to give NATO close to 5,700 planes by the end of 1954. A high American official had said earlier the United States would contribute at least half the total increase.

2. A five per cent increase in ground forces to give NATO 103 front line and reserve divisions.

3. A 15 per cent boost in naval craft, for a total of about 1,900 by the end of next year.

To Maintain Supply

Wilson promised NATO allies the United States would keep up its supply to them of modern weapons and munitions. He called on west Europe's military leaders to hurry on with the job of devising procedures for using the weapons to best advantage.

The western Big Three assured their NATO partners today they will hold fast to their transatlantic alliance in the proposed Berlin talks with the Soviet Union, according to an official source.

The official said American, British and French foreign ministers sat for almost two hours with their North Atlantic Treaty colleagues in a closed survey of world conditions affecting the 14-nation organization as the NATO counell sessions went into their final day.

The disbanding of NATO as well as the dismantling of the projected six-nation European army have been prime Russian conditions for reunification of Germany, the liberation of Austria and a definite settlement of the German problem in a peace treaty.

Report on Bermuda

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault reported today on their recent conference at Bermuda and their plans for the scheduled Berlin session with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov.

Dulles refused to comment on this morning's session but Canadian Defense Minister Brooke Claxton described it as a "full and frank" discussion of the problems which face NATO members in their overseas areas. The closed talk was arranged as a sort of intermission opportunity for an informal exchange of views.

Claxton said that the Big Three ministers said they still hope to sit down with the Russians in Berlin on the date suggested—Jan. 4—but that there has been no reply of acceptance from the Kremlin yet.

Another official who attended the session said the ministers were told of American plans to build air and naval bases in the Spanish peninsula to provide additional air cover for European defense. Spain, however, is not in NATO, and these bases will be constructed under a bilateral treaty between the United States and Spain.

President to Keep accomplished, so far as the executive and legislative branches of the government are concerned, if our kind of government is to operate successfully.

Commends Nixon

2. Commended Vice President Nixon on the accomplishments of the world tour he completed this week. Eisenhower said both the official reports and those in the press make it clear that Nixon did a splendid job. The Vice President and Mrs. Nixon represented the U. S. in an admirable fashion, the President said.

3. Declared in effect that he agrees with Secretary of State Dulles' remarks prodding France to ratify the European defense army project. The law of the land, the President said, already provides that 50 per cent of this year's appropriations for foreign aid must be channeled into the European Defense Community, which has not been set up as yet. If there is no EDC, the President asked, what do we do? He added he was somewhat astonished that anyone would feel there is anything blunt or new in what Dulles said in Paris.

4. Stated in effect that he agrees with Gen. William F. Dean that American GI's would have been able to stand up better in the face of Communist propaganda if they had had a better understanding of what America really means, and better discipline at home all their lives.

The President said he does not like the phrase juvenile delinquency, and thinks a better term is parental failure.

5. Said that generally speaking he is not in favor of providing a detailed breakdown of the reasons in the cases of more than 1,450 persons who have been separated from the government rolls. He added, however, that not all of them were discharged for subversion.

Saturday Is Last To Sign for Party

Parents of the Seventh and 13th wards have time yet to register their children between the ages of 3 and 10 years to attend the big Christmas party Monday from 7 to 9 p. m. in the dining hall of the Yacht Club Restaurant, 334 Abeel street, it was announced today.

There will be plenty of soda, hot dogs, ice cream, and candy, according to the citizens committee from the two wards, which entertained 180 youngsters last year. And, Santa Claus will be present too, to hand out small gifts, according to those in charge of the event.

Saturday is the last for reporting names and addresses of children to attend, it was stressed, and this may be done by phoning 1379.

One of the features of the party will be movies furnished through the courtesy of Andrew J. Murphy 3d, superintendent of the Kingston Recreation Department.

Address Is Right

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Charles Mynes, 32, was simply reporting the facts when he told arresting officers his address was "County Jail." State Trooper S. P. Vandeventer said Mynes, charged with drunk driving, was a trusty from the county klink. He was driving a county truck, too.

A granite pylon on Kill Devil Hill in North Carolina commemorates the first flight of the Wright brothers in 1903.

State Gets Snow

Dunkirk, Dec. 16 (AP)—Winds sweeping off Lakes Erie and Ontario last night and early today dropped up to a foot of snow on the southwestern and northern areas of the state. Twelve inches of new snow fell here blocking some roads during the night and 11 inches were reported near Syracuse. Two schools were closed and traffic delayed. Drifts piling up on Route 5 and 20 along Lake Erie made part of those highways impassable during the night, but state police reported all main roads open this morning. The storm passed pust south of Buffalo in the north and along the Pennsylvania border in the south.

Alcohol Costly

Cornwall, Ont. (AP)—Prof. Joslyn Rogers, University of Toronto medico-legal expert, told a meeting here that 95 per cent of murders and 20 per cent of traffic fatalities in Ontario are caused by overindulgence in alcohol. Most murders now, he said, result from "drunken brawls."

Denies Naming Employes

Frankfurt, Germany, Dec. 16 (AP)—American lawyer Earl Carroll denied today that a list of 125 alleged Communists he gave Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) named employes of the U. S. High Commission in Germany. Carroll, who returned yesterday from Washington, said he has written a letter to Sen. McCarthy "to clear up any misunderstanding that may exist in this regard."

School Holiday Disputed

Lincoln, Neb. (AP) — Susan, daughter of Gov. Robert Crosby of Nebraska popped her head inside the executive office door just when her Dad was deep in a press conference. Crosby glanced at her and remarked "Oh, no school today. I was just up talking to the teachers' convention—and your teachers' were there—and I told them one of the things wrong with the schools today is that there are too many holidays!" Susan muttered something like "Oh, you'l and did a disappearing act as her Dad grinned broadly.

His Father's Voice

Hope, Kas. (AP)—Two-months-old David Chartier heard his dad's voice for the first time by radio. Chartier left last winter for service as company clerk with an army unit at Kitzengen, Germany. Radio station KJCK, Junction City, Kas., telephoned Mrs. Chartier before broadcasting a tape-recorded message from the father.

Jaywalker Is Proud

Penticton, B. C. (AP)—Chief William Krueger, 83, of the Okanagan Indian Reserve, is proud of his membership in the Ancient Order of Jaywalkers, but says this does not allow him to walk between intersections on city streets. He said that in 1880 a bill fostered by a man named Jay and known as the Jay-walking bill was made law in the United States. It gave Indians, Canadians and Americans, living on reservations, the right to walk across the international boundary at will, taking with them household chattels.

Doctors Study Here

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—U. S. medical schools have become a magnet for graduate medical students from nearly all countries outside the Iron Curtain. That report was given to the Association of American Medical Colleges at its annual convention here. The report said 2,751 foreign physicians are in the United States and the list of applicants is growing steadily.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Dec. 15—The singing of Christmas carols will be an added feature of the meeting and covered dish supper Wednesday evening, Dec. 16, at the Modena Methodist Church. Mrs. Allison Swords will lead the singing.

The pupils of the Modena school will present their annual Christmas entertainment Thursday, Dec. 17, at the school, at 8 p. m. under the direction of the teachers. A pleasing program has been planned, with plays, recitations and singing, also the appearance of Santa and the traditional Christmas tree. Everyone in the community is welcome to attend the entertainment.

Local members of the Missionary Society of the New Hurley Reformed Church attended the December meeting held Thursday, Dec. 10, at the home of Mrs. Elmer Fries in New Hurley. Mrs. Albert Cronk was in charge of the annual Christmas program, and Christmas meditations were given in response to the roll call.

Members of the Plattekill Lions Club including a number of local men, will distribute Christmas baskets throughout the community, as is their usual custom.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer (Al) Corwin of New Hurley are the parents of a young son, Glenn Alan, born Nov. 16 at the Cornwall Hospital. Mrs. Corwin is the former Patricia McMahon of New Windsor, and Mr. Corwin a former local resident, has won fame as a pitcher for the New York Giants.

Marylou DuBois was among students of the Wallkill Central High School visiting the State Teachers College by invitation on Saturday.

Monkey Business Halted

Omaha (AP)—Caretakers at Riverview Park zoo here have acquired new respect for the mechanical aptitude of monkeys. The animals unscrewed the bolts holding the hinges on their cage doors and one got loose. Park attendants spent a strenuous afternoon running it down. There will be no repetition. The bolts have been bent so they can't be unscrewed.

MOM WILL BE HAPPY—A litter of 12-day-old pigs seems to have taken to this automat-style feeding device on display at the Smithfield Agricultural Show in London, England. The John Percy Pig Rearer features infra-red light for warmth, and allows the mother sow enough time to recuperate and bear at least one extra litter every two years. Holding one little pig back from the mechanical instrument is Hilde Moray, a German-born model.

How to Select A Christmas Tree

AP Newsfeatures

There are a number of points to keep in mind when you go shopping for the family Christmas tree. The Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture offers these tips on how to get your money's worth:

Choose a tree whose needles are dark green and fresh looking, and are not beginning to drop.

Look for filled-in branches and symmetrical shape.

Be sure limbs are strong enough to hold ornaments and lights, are pliable and nonpricky.

A fragrant odor also denotes freshness of tree.

The five most popular trees meeting these requirements are the balsam fir, Douglas fir, black spruce, eastern red cedar and white spruce.

The balsam fir, distinguished by unusual fragrance, can be recognized by its short, flat, dark green needles, rounded at the tip. Douglas fir has short, flat, pointed dark green needles attached all the way around the twig. Black spruce needles are stiff, crowded, somewhat curved, four-sided and short. They are a pale blue-green with a sharp hard tip. Eastern red cedar has dark blue-green needles that are scalelike. White spruce needles are curved in, sharp-tipped, blue-green and four-sided.

The most important thing to look for is freshness.

Farm experts say corn is 25 per cent more nutritious when turned into silage than when fed to animals as grain and fodder.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

A PAIL OF OYSTERS
By Vern Sneider
311 pp

This novel by the author of "The Teahouse of the August Moon" tells, with penetration and sympathetic understanding, about the plight of the Formosan people, caught between the menace of invasion from the mainland and constant fear of raids upon their slim stores of food by the poorly paid, hungry army of occupation—under the pretense of seeking out enemies of the country.

The story opens with 19-year-old Li Liu, youngest son of gentle, tubercular Chinese peasant father and a mother from the half savage tribes of the interior. He is hurrying home with a pail of oysters from their carefully hidden oyster bed, casting fearful glances at a convoy of "Save-the-Country" soldiers. The soldiers allow him to pass and take the oysters to his home, where he lives on the edge of starvation with his parents, four brothers and their wives and children; but they return next evening and take rice and household goods for which the oysters have been bartered, and worst of all they take the precious family God. Li Liu, at his father's pleading, sets out to try to get it back and that sets off a chain of circumstances that carry Li Liu into an entirely different and very hazardous life in the capital city of Taipei.

Much of the rest of the story is seen through the eyes of Ralph Barton, American newspaperman, sent to write a series of articles about the Formosa of today. Unlike other visitors to Formosa, Barton refuses to look at the bright side of the picture as shown to visiting dignitaries, writers, etc., so that reports will always be good; but instead he does some investigating on his own, and what he sees is not all pretty.

Barton's introduction to Formosan cruelty is the sickening sight of a group of men baiting a dog. The dog is tied, backed against a wall and then abused, while the crowd cheers. Barton broke that up and took the dog with him. Next at the "Friends of China Club" he learns the story of "Didi," a young Chinese floor boy. Quite simply Didi relates how he and his sister, "Precious Jade," were sold by their parents to Wang Chu Chung, a wealthy Formosan. Didi he adopted as his son, since he had none of his own and gave him a fine suite of rooms in his home and every luxury. Precious Jade, he sent, with many other girls in his house to brothels from which he collected their earnings. One night at a wedding celebration, Precious Jade was frightened by a brutal guest of the House with hideous threats. She knew he meant them and fled the House in terror. Knowing of the punishment in store for her, she tells her brother she is going to run away from Wang's house. Didi insists upon going with her, taking their precious registration cards, and leaving those of the other girls where they could find them. Fourteen of them left, too. When Wang discovered his loss, his rage knew no bounds and he vowed terrible vengeance upon the brother and sister.

Somehow Didi and Precious Jade managed to find a humble shelter on the outskirts of Taipei. Kind Didi discovered Li Liu, a trembling fugitive without his registration card, and took him in with them.

For a while, with Barton's help, they managed to escape the notice of the dreaded police and to live fairly comfortably. Li Liu even found the family God on the street of second-hand shops, known as "Haggle Row," but hadn't enough money to pay for it.

Then, just as Barton had succeeded in penetrating below the surface of Formosan politics and getting an insight into the genuine worth of the majority of the Formosan people, driven underground by a corrupt government—tragedy struck the little home of Didi and Precious Jade.

Hearing of their impending doom, Barton makes a night-long effort to avert it—but it is not enough.

One thing he can do—and does. He buys Li Liu's family God for him and helps him to get home with it. Only when home is in sight, Li Liu suddenly realizes that he cannot again enter it. His association with his doomed companions makes him forever suspected. So, at the end, we see him on the same lonely beach, from whence came the pail of oysters, sadly burning his God.

Only one thing for Barton to do now. Stay and learn more about the small, stupid and worthless group who are enslaving the many who are worth saving—and to reveal his findings through the printed word.

More Ralph Bartons and less junketing congressmen, and others, would give us a clearer picture of the countries, which this country, together with the United Nations are pledged to release from the tyranny of the monster of communism.

Caught on Bounce

Oakland, Calif. (AP)—James Krager operates a cigar store at 12th and Franklin streets and keeps a camera handy. When he cashes a check, he takes a "mug" shot of the customer. If the check bounces, Krager has a picture for the police. His camera has nabbed one bad check passer.

Menotti Opera Heard At Sorosis Meeting

Mrs George W. Ross told the story of the one-act opera, Amahl and the Night Visitors, by Gian-Carlo Menotti, and played recordings of it, at the Monday afternoon meeting of Sorosis.

This opera is in English, with an unusual presentation of the Christmas message. It was written especially for use on television and was first produced Christmas Eve in 1951 at the NBC theatre, New York.

The holiday program, in charge of Mrs. Howard Lewis, Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman, and Mrs. Clarence Dumm, was held at the home of Mrs. G. C. Lasher, Lucas avenue.

After the program, a tea, carrying out the thought of the season, was served by Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw, Mrs. Deweese DeWitt, and Mrs. Boyd N. Williams. Of special note was the attractive table tree bearing Christmas boutonnieres made by Mrs. Lewis.

Choir Entertains School No. 7 P-TA

An important meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 7 was held Monday evening at the school.

Several matters of business dealing with the school were discussed during the meeting, conducted by Herbert Cutler, president. A sample baseball uniform was displayed, of silver and royal blue, to be the model for the team uniforms. These uniforms will be purchased with the money obtained from the highly successful P-T A cake sale at Montgomery Ward's, which was held recently.

Following the regular business meeting, a program of entertainment was presented by the children. They sang several hymns and Christmas songs.

Arranges Entertainment

Miss Isabel Malone was the chairman of the Entertainment Committee which arranged for the program presented at the dinner of the Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women held December 8.

Texture Gives a New Dimension

Corduroy is a newcomer to winter vacation clothes. Tapered slacks in fine pinwale corduroy (left) have the new lantern puff leg that's a change from the usual straight line. Emerald green pants are worn with leaf print blouse in cotton. Jamaica shorts (center) have sides inset with shirred puffing. There's a matching shirred bra and lantern-sleeved bolero. This trio is in sun yellow. Full quilted skirt of corduroy (right) is in flower print done in bright sun shades. It's worn with color-matched orange linen blouse for texture contrast. The new corduroy is in finer, lighter weight that is practical as well as pretty.

Corduroy Council of America

Women Bartenders

Lawrence, Mass. (AP)—The local bartenders union has asked the license commission to bar women bartenders, saying their presence would be "detrimental to the industry."

Medical Education Costly

Atlantic City, N. J., (AP)—The high cost of a medical education is barring many qualified students from U. S. medical schools. A report read at the annual convention here of the Association of American Medical Colleges said a sample of 26 schools showed the yearly cost of attending medical school ranges from $1,200 to $1,850.

This Is Love!

Butte, Mont. (AP)—A Butte girl picked up a beer bottle and bashed her boy friend over the head. The bottle shattered, cutting his face and her hand. Police related: "After the couple was treated in a Butte hospital they apologized to each other, kissed and left the hospital arm in arm."

Census taking in ancient times was followed by conscription or high taxes and the process often was bitterly resisted.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST
(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

STOPPING A WOULD-BE GIVER

The mother of a bride-to-be writes me: "I have a friend whom I would like very much to invite to my daughter's wedding. This woman is a widow and has very little money, but I know that if she is invited to the wedding, she will send my daughter a wedding present even though she cannot afford it. How can I tell her that she will be most welcome at Mary's wedding, but not to send a present? Could this be done without embarrassing her?

She shouldn't be embarrassed if you say to her, "I really mean it seriously, Sara, I don't want you to buy Mary a wedding present! She has more presents than she knows what to do with now. But we do want you with us on that day."

Bride Wears Sapphires

Dear Mrs. Post: I received a necklace of blue sapphires from my fiance for a wedding present. I had planned on wearing this as the "something blue" on my wedding day, but my sister insists that a string of pearls is the only proper jewelry worn with a white bridal dress. Will you please tell me if she is right?

Answer: Because a bride usually wears pearls does not mean that that is the only thing she is permitted to wear, and the fact that the blue sapphire necklace is a present from the groom, makes it doubly correct.

A Name Question

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct name for a wife to use when she and her husband are separated, but not divorced?

Answer: Usually she keeps his name. The fact that they have different addresses shows that they have separated. The further fact that neither can remarry avoids the complication of ex-wife and wife No. 2 having duplicate names. This is the principal reason why the divorcee properly gives up her husband's surname and substitutes it with her maiden name.

The music, receiving line, wedding cake and toast to the happy couple is described in leaflet E-2, "Formal Wedding Procedure." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 199, N. Y.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Trouble Pinned Down

Oakville, Conn. (AP)—School Superintendent Gordon C. Swift said growing communities are having trouble getting new schools because: "We desire to have the best for our children; we are reluctant to pay for it."

Book Details All Special Days

A book listing all special days, weeks and months during 1954 for the entire United States is now available at the office of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The comprehensive list includes national holidays, holidays celebrated only in certain states, promotional "weeks"—like National Newspaper Week—and almost every special day or observance that has been initiated.

Anyone interested may examine the book at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Governor Clinton Hotel. A limited number are available for sale.

"This makes an excellent reference book for program chairmen and others interested in any special dates during the year," was the comment of Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber. The listing was prepared by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and made available through local affiliated chambers.

Point that have been given proper care. Also shown was the 250-year-old Balmville Tree, a landmark on the outskirts of Newburgh, which is now being given care of the type recommended.

Spraying of an area as large as Kingston could probably be done most economically from an airplane, he said.

Points brought out during a question and answer period included the fact that the mist spray used would not be dangerous to humans, probably would not even be noticeable on the windshields of automobiles, and in past tests the type spray has not resulted in any decline in the population of birds or bees. He noted that it is possible that a bird getting in a tree area too thickly concentrated with spray might die, but the long-run results in a greater number of trees being preserved would benefit the bird population. Sprayed trees would not drop the gummy substance on automobiles as do the unprotected trees, he said.

Guests of the club at Tuesday's meeting included Don Webber, of the Webber Airplane Dusting and Spraying Service of Germantown, who has done that type of spray work; Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne of Stone Ridge; Miss Louise Heron; N. Jansen Fowler, president of the Kiwanis Club; and Alderman Hirschell Mayes of the First Ward.

Emphasizing Flayter's comment on the need for an early start on the project, Alderman Mayes pointed out that if any bid will be made for city appropriation toward the project, it must be done within the next few days. He said that the budget for next year is being prepared now and that requests should be filed immediately rather than after the budget is adopted.

Wright Flight Is

the four-day anniversary celebration.

Events were planned in part as a rehearsal of the climactic finale scheduled for Thursday, 50 years to the day from the first successful airplane flights of Orville and Wilbur Wright, Dec. 17, 1903.

Two North American F86 Sabre jets gave Kitty Hawk an unscheduled "sample sonic boom" yesterday. Air show officials said they thought the planes were on a routine mission out of Langley Air Force Base, Va., but were not sure. Eight F86's from the Tactical Air Command, at Langley, promised to deliver a real emphatic sonic boom today. They customarily produce the giant bang by diving from an altitude of 43,000 feet and passing through the so-called sonic barrier—that is, exceeding the speed of sound which at that altitude is about 760 miles an hour. The pull-out takes place at about 20,000 feet. The sound waves during such a maneuver strike the ground like a clap of thunder.

Other Air Events

Some of the other scheduled air events:

By the Marines — Flight demonstrations by 12 F2H Banishees and 12 F3D Skynights and by 16 Sikorsky HRS helicopters, from Cherry Point, N. C.

By the Navy—Two blimps from Elizabeth City, N. C. They were assigned to do a "squeeze"—a sharp circling maneuver—around the Wright brothers monument on nearby Kill Devil Hill.

By the Army—12 Cessna L19s, three Canadian DeHavilland L20 Beavers, three Beech L23s, six Hiller H23 helicopters and a platoon of Piasecki H25 helicopters, all from Ft. Bragg, N. C.

By the Coast Guard—Simulated air rescue mission by helicopters from the Elizabeth City Air Station.

By the Air Force — Memorial formation by 13 F84 Thunderjets from Turner Air Force Base, Albany, Ga.; formation flying by six Fairchild C119 Flying Boxcars and six Douglas C124 Globemasters from Donaldson Air Force Base, S. C.; maneuvers by three Northrup F89D Scorpions from Presque Isle, Me., three F86Ds from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., and three Lockheed F94Cs from Langley; precision formation flying by the famous Thunderbirds team of four Republic F84s from Luke Air Force Base, Glendale, Ariz.

Plainfield Industrialist Buys Hurley Home

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ransom have sold their ranch home in Hurley to Mr. and Mrs. John Mager of Plainfield, N. J. The Ransoms, after wintering in Florida, will make their home on upper Main street in Kingston.

Mager, who is a partner in the George E. Fritz Company of New York, is planning to reopen in the near future the former Rice Foundry on Abeel street for the design and manufacture of metal patterns and molds. Mager believes that because of Kingston's ideal location, there are many favorable signs for industrial and commercial expansion.

The new owners have already taken possession of the former Ransom property, which consists of a three-acre parcel with a wide view of the Hurley countryside. The transaction was handled through the Harold W. O'Connor Real Estate Agency of 435 Albany avenue.

There are about 686,000 species of insects.

Ulster Hose Has Annual Election

The annual election of officers was held by members of Ulster Hose Company, No. 5, Monday evening at the fire house. The following were elected:

Edward Dingeldey, re-elected president; Alfrederick A. Kilmer, re-elected vice-president; Walded Purdy, secretary; George L. Berry, financial secretary; Gerald Woodvine, re-elected treasurer. William Norton, chief; Joseph Dyer, assistant chief; Donald Reed, captain; Every Thomas, first lieutenant; Harold Smith, second lieutenant; Walter Burgher, third lieutenant. Directors elected for three year term was Charles P. Emerick and William Harbig.

Arrangements were completed for the annual Christmas cheer program to be held on Saturday, December 19. Chairman Ernest Peterson asked as many members as possible to be present to help Santa Claus distribute candy and a gift to all children residing in the fire district and the protection district.

Santa Claus will again ride on the fire truck to greet the children. The siren and bell along with a sound truck playing Christmas carols will herald his approach.

University Expenses Zoom

Minneapolis (AP) — The University of Minnesota has reported record expenses of $54,189,630 for the past fiscal year. Income for the period was slightly more, leaving a balance of $4,395. Costs of operating the school have mounted steadily since 1945-46, when expenses came to $20,685,930.

Shokan

Shokan, Dec. 15—Mrs. Elva Bogart and Delta Boice Fromer, one time residents of the town of Olive, were numbered among the many Kingstonians calling in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Bogart, the former Emma Smith, is the granddaughter of Dr. Abram C. Hull, practicing physician and postmaster at Olive, now Ashokan, in the 1870's.

Santa Claus is scheduled to make an appearance at the Christmas entertainment in the Ashokan Methodist Church Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Edward Ocker, Jr., Allaben young man who resided in Shokan as a small boy, was a caller here Saturday. Ed is a grandson of Nathan Jones who lived in the Spillway neighborhood many years ago.

The Shokan post office will remain open during the noon hour until Christmas Day. Postmaster Betsy VonderOsten urges patrons of the local office to adhere rigidly to the usual postal rules in preparing packages for the mails, and points out that the department now frowns upon the use of stickers, other than postage stamps, on the address side of letters, cards and packages. Other helpful information is gladly furnished at the window.

David Robeson who with his family moved to Brown's Station hill from the San Fernando Valley, Calif., early this fall, was a caller in the village Sunday.

The people of the north reservoir country learned with regret of the death, December 8, of Mrs. Emil Brunel, a well-known resident of Boiceville for many years. The former Gladys McLeod with her husband and daughter came to this section from New York and built a home along the Back Brook where Brunel, a nationally known photographer, sculptured as a hobby the famed Indian statues which still may be seen along Route 28.

Mrs. Charles Duloff, formerly of the Coons neighborhood of Shokan, was numbered among the Acorn Hill residents calling here Saturday. Mrs. Duloff, a keen student of county history, has found in her farm home, the old Abel North house, a 200-year old deed conveying a portion of the 600-acre North grant of land which indenture also records the sale of two of the North family slaves. The former Bertha Kiersted was brought up in Hurley village on the old Kiersted place which dates back to the coming of the Dutch.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, Dec. 16—A dress rehearsal for the children's Christmas play and pageant was held in the church hall Sunday afternoon. The performance will take place in the hall Friday night at 7:30 with Mrs. Grover Hedges playing the piano for the musical numbers.

The annual Christmas party will be held following the pageant Friday night. Refreshments will be served and oranges and boxes of Christmas candy will be distributed to the children by the Grange. Parents are requested to bring small, wrapped children's toys for an interchange of gifts among the small fry.

The Rev. William Galvin has announced that St. Francis de Sales parish will hold its annual children's Christmas party in the parish hall at Phoenicia Sunday at 2 p. m. All children are welcome.

The Community Association of Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant, Inc., held its monthly meeting Thursday night in the former schoolhouse. It was decided that members of the Association would provide refreshments for the community Christmas party. It was announced that Reese Smith, Sr., had offered to show colored slides which he took on his trips to Arizona. The members were highly appreciative of the offer and December 30 at 7 p. m. was set as the date and time for the showing. Refreshments will be provided by the association and there will be no charge.

The volunteer members of the Onteora Hose Company built the chimney for the firehouse Sunday morning and also completed some of the rafters for the roof. A few more Sunday morning work sessions should see the building completed.

Per capita beef consumption in the United States rose from 55 pounds in 1951 to an estimated record 75 pounds in 1953.

Business by Mistake

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—The Martin Rosenberger Wallpaper Store, which observed its 19th anniversary recently, is part of a business born by mistake 56 years ago in Cincinnati, Ohio. The Rosenberger brothers, operating a small housewares store at the time, bought a carload of wallpaper borders instead of sidewall paper and in order to dispose of them had to buy hundreds of carloads of sidewall paper. Selling the unwanted goods proved so profitable, they stayed in the business and now own 37 stores in eight states.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Christmas Party Is Planned by Lions Club

Saugerties, Dec. 16—The Saugerties Lions Club are planning their annual Christmas Party for Monday at the Flamingo Restaurant on the Saugerties-Kingston road. The annual custom of the Lions at Christmas time is to invite as their guests a number of local youngsters who will share in the party and dinner and will also receive much needed gifts of clothes, money and toys. Ten local youngsters will be feted at this year's party. Chairman Steve Stycos has asked all members who are bringing friends as guests to the dinner to make reservations with him or by calling the Flamingo before Friday.

Girls Are Hosts

Saugerties, Dec. 16 — The Saugerties Campfire Girls will play host to the Saugerties District Boy Scouts at their annual Christmas party which will be held at the high school auditorium on Saturday at 7:30 p. m. The festivities will include square dancing, singing, and refreshments.

Blood Donations Asked

Saugerties, Dec. 16—The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary has announced that there will be another Blood Bank drawing on Thursday, at 7 p. m. at the VFW Hall on Livingston street. Co-chairmen Mrs. John E. Drewes and Miss Marie McCutcheon are asking all to donate.

Dartball Change

Saugerties, Dec. 16—The West Camp and Centerville Fire Co. dartball teams have agreed on a schedule change to eliminate a game originally scheduled for Christmas week. This game will be played this week on Thursday, Dec. 17 at the West Camp Parish Hall. The refreshments committee for that evening will include Danny Wynne and Len Sinnott Jr.

Immunization Clinic

Saugerties, Dec. 16—There will be an immunization clinic for children at the Saugerties Health Center, West Bridge street and Main on Thursday from 3:30 to 4 p. m. Dr. Hugh S. Chidester town health officer will give immunization for small pox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Old Custom Preserved

West Camp, Dec. 16—The St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp is perpetuating the age old Lutheran custom which is observed mostly in northwest European countries of lighting the Advent wreath. An Advent wreath which was prepared and designed by Nickolas Jacobson with the help of Eugene Lang has been placed in the chancel. Each successive Sunday in Advent one condle on the wreath is lit during a brief ceremony performed by the Rev. Henry M. Schumann, pastor of St. Paul's. On the last Sunday before Christmas the candle lighting ceremony is completed when the fourth candle is lighted. St. Paul's traditional Christmas Eve in Advent one candle on the of this impressive ceremony.

Brotherhood to Meet

Saugerties, Dec. 16—The Men's Brotherhood of the Saugerties Reformed Church will hold its regular meeting on Thursday at 6:30 p. m. A supper will precede the program. Guest for the evening will be Fred Van Deusen of Kingston sleight-of-hand specialist. The coommittee on arrangements includes Harold Van Voorhis, chairman; Harry Lowe, Austin Robbins, Clifford Van Etten, and Spencer Williams.

St. John's Plans Party

Veteran, Dec. 16—St. John's Parish is planning their annual Christmas party at the hall in Veteran on Sunday evening, Dec. 20 at 5 p. m.

Quarryville Service

Quarryville, Dec. 16—The Quarryville Methodist Church is planning a Christmas worship service for Thursday evening. The Rev. D. Clark Allen, pastor of the church, announced that there would be a Christmas party directly following the service.

Fund Falls Short

Saugerties, Dec. 16—The Christmas lighting fund total now stands at $1,735 which is still short of the goal of $2,100 by $365. Since the kiddies party and parade last Friday evening contributions to the fund have been scarce. When announcing today's total John C. Sauer, treasurer of the fund, said that plans have already been made for a canvas to cover all businesses who have not made their contributions up to this date.

Farrels Have Daughter

Saugerties, Dec. 16 — A three pound eight ounce daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell of Spaulding Lane on Monday, Dec. 16 at Dale Sanitarium. Dr. Lester A. Sonking was in attendance. Mrs. Farrell is the former Marjory Myers.

Dead Man Pays Fine

Milwaukee (AP) — Milwaukee Traffic Court collected a $25 fine from a dead man. He was released on $25 bail. His speeding case was called next day. When he did not appear, the court ordered his bond forfeited as a fine as is customary. The man was killed in a head-on collision.

The Citizen's Creed

"I believe in my job. To some it may not be a very important job, but it is mine.

"I believe in my fellowman.

"I believe in my country. If it is not the best country in the world, it is partly because I am not the kind of man that I should be.

Jane—Irma, why are you putting an egg beater in your hope chest?

Irma—Well, I read in a book once that a wife must be a good mixer.

Some apartment house janitors would rather sleep than heat.

An angry little man bounced into the postmaster's office and complained that, for some time, he had been pestered by threatening letters.

Postmaster—I'm sure we can help. That's a federal offense. Have you an idea who is sending you these letters?

Little man—I certainly have. They are coming from those pesky income tax people.

FUNNNY BUSINESS — By HERSCHBERGER

"Quick, Junior, your piggy bank! I don't like the way your father is looking at it!"

Croquet Fills Leisure

Leisure, Ind. (AP)—Leisure-time activity in this Madison county town is croquet. "We play all winter when the weather permits," said Jefferson Titus, a strapping, cigar-smoking mallet swinger, "and sometimes even when the weather doesn't permit."

LITTLE LIZ

It may be inconsistent, but it's usually the square who runs around in circles.

Corny Cleanup Works

Harrisburg (AP)—Hoby Geeseman keeps ponies in a stable near his service station just outside Wernersville. The ponies eat corn and up to a few weeks ago, Hoby had the problem of disposing of hundreds of corn cobs. Now he dips the cobs in water and uses them to clean windshields of automobiles.

Refrigerator Peril

Dallas (AP)—It's illegal in Dallas to abandon or "dangerously expose" a refrigerator unless the door or latch has been removed. The city council passed the measure, in view of recent cases over the country, to protect children who might trap themselves in the boxes. The fine for violation is $200.

THE LITTLE TREE THAT TALKED — A Christmas Story — By WALT SCOTT

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Electronic Chimes Installed in Dutch Reformed Church

Woodstock, Dec. 16—This year for the first time, chimes will herald the beginning of the Christmas Eve celebration on the village green. The secret, which has caused a veritable hush of anticipation about the village center for the past few days, has been revealed, that electronic chimes have been installed in the steeple of the Dutch Reformed Church. Some anxious moments were spent by the committee in charge of the celebration, which is sponsored by the Woodstock Square Club, as there was some question as to the arrival of the chimes in time for the event.

Although the celebration will start at 4:50 p. m., on Christmas Eve, the chimes will carol out at 4:30 p. m. when the crowd assembles.

The chimes were installed by Stephen Todd, a radio technician for IBM Company in Poughkeepsie, son of the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Dutch Church.

Musicians to Play

The program will open with music by the Dickens Minstrels, the musicians being Clem Nessel, Bill Moore, John Pike and Dave Huffine. Christmas Carol song books and printed copies of the entire program and candles will be distributed to visitors by the members of Boy Scout Troop No. 12.

After the candles have been lighted there will be a fanfare by the trumpeters—Homer Foster, Barbara Cohn, James Cousins and Atlee Rapp. The invocation will be offered by the Rev. James Riordan, St. Joan of Arc Roman Catholic Church, and the welcome to the occasion extended by Walter Van Wagenen, master of ceremonies. A solo, Ave Maria, will be sung by A. Molyneaux.

The Christmas Story will be told by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, which will be followed by the singing of carols by the choirs as follows: Silent Night and Hark the Herald Angels Sing, Dutch Reformed Church and Christ Lutheran Church Choirs; O Little Town of Bethlehem and Joy To The World, Methodist Church Choir; The First Noel and O Tannenbaum, the Rotron Glee Club; to conclude with Christmas carols by the assemblage, led by Thomas Dendy, Allen Waterous, A. Molyneaux and B. Walsh. The benediction will be given by the Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne, Methodist Church.

Santa Makes Appearance

The ringing notes of the singing of Santa Claus Is Coming To Town will give the signal for Santa to make his annual dramatic appearance at some point on the village green. Villagers are already speculating as to likely, but unexpected points of arrival.

Once on the ground Santa will distribute candy, oranges and other gifts to the children of the township and surrounding area, assisted by members of the Woodstock Fire Companies. It is estimated that the celebration will be completed about 6 p. m.

This year the Christmas tree on the village green, which was put in place last weekend, is again the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marr of Bearsville. It was erected by members of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club and the Woodstock Fish and Game Club. The tree was decorated with lights, as is his usual custom, by "Pop" Franckling. The platform will be erected through the courtesy of Clark Neher.

A bulletin board is also to be erected on the village green on which will be posted the names of persons contributing prizes for the best decorated homes and places of business. Some 40 odd prizes have been donated. In addition to the list of donors previously published in this column December 9 are those of the William Miller Pottery Shop and the Woodstock Fuel Company.

Judges Are Listed

Judges for Christmas decorations are as follows: Betty Bauman, Richard Chambers and Paul Arnt, village of Woodstock; Virgil Van Wagonen, Bearsville; Nelson Shultis, Wittenberg; Montcena DeWitt, Zena; Ivan Mallow, Shady; Clifford Carnright, Lake Hill and Willow. The judging will take place on Monday, December 21.

Those wishing to enter their homes or business establishments in the contest are requested to communicate, wherever possible with the judges in their areas. This is not a requisite, but it will be of considerable assistance to the judges and will eliminate the possibility of anyone being overlooked.

The various categories for the decoration contest are as follows: The most effectively decorated home by day; the most effectively decorated home by night; the most effectively decorated business by day; the most effectively decorated business by night; the most original (home or business); the most religious; and four miscellaneous prizes. In each category there will be a first, second and third prize, except in the last group.

Museum Acquires Kuniyoshi Work

Woodstock, Dec. 16—A drawing, Fish Head, by the late Yasuo Kuniyoshi is among the new acquisitions of the permanent collection of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, and will be included in the exhibition, American Painting, 1754-1954, which opens Friday, Dec. 18, at the museum. More than 600 works of U. S. art are to be shown in the exhibit honoring the Columbia University Bicentennial. The paintings and drawings, from the museum's American collections, trace the artistic history of the nation from the year of the University's founding to the present day.

The show will include paintings, water colors, drawings, prints and a limited number of sculptures and works of decorative art. It is the first survey of the collections of American art at the Metropolitan to span the last two hundred years, from realistic canvases painted by John Singleton Copley, Benjamin West and other artists in the 1700's to abstract works executed in the 1950's.

Crafts Co-op Ushers In Christmas Season

Woodstock, Dec. 16 — The Christmas season at the Crafts Co-operative shop on the village green has been ushered in with the attractive shelves and window laden with a variety of enticing articles.

Among the new items are Judson Smith's exceedingly masculine copper pieces, strong rectangular ash trays, cigarette boxes and other pieces.

Bessie Stowall has contributed a wealth of woven articles, simply handled but always useful small woven bags in a variety of soft blended colors with linings to match or contrast. There are plenty of her woven scarves, neckties and exceptionally chic little personality hats which can be molded to fit each individual head.

Again Alice Fischer has devised a new group of designs, as well as her popular old ones, for her ceramic pins, earrings, necklaces and bracelets. She has employed the fish motif to advantage, and one group contains quaint European street scenes in bas relief. There are unusual pieces of appealing greys in modern motifs.

Always a popular Christmas item Blanch and Dick Kahil's fruit cakes are again available packed in handy round tin boxes in several sizes.

Donaldson and Bill Miller have provided a large selection of ceramic bowls, ash trays, pitchers, snack tray sets and solid tobacco jars.

For an amusing gift the large plaid handkerchiefs are the answer as are the tiny cocktail napkins and mats.

This year a Christmas specialty are the quaintly decorated small candles. Eleanor McCaffery's wide line of silver jewelry is as eye catching as usual and equally distinctive.

Edith Cook's gaily decorated aprons, place mats and handkerchiefs are also ideal for Christmas gifts.

Village Notes

Woodstock, Dec. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lethbridge visited Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Lethbridge at their home here, last weekend. Norman is teaching now at the school in Little Falls, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers are leaving this week to spend the winter in Greenwich Village, New York. They plan to return to their home here in April.

Irwin Arlt celebrated birthday with a family party at his home on December 14.

Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker entertained at a dinner party in honor of Maj. and Mrs. William Shirey last Thursday.

To Hold Food Sale

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The ladies of the Lutheran Church will hold a food sale on Saturday, Dec. 19 at 10 a. m., in the store next to Bonnie's shop.

To Present Pageant

Woodstock, Dec. 16—The Lutheran Church will present a Christmas pageant on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7:45 p. m., at the church. The pageant is entitled Star Gleam and will be presented by members of the Sunday school and the choir. Miss Evelyn Ruhmann will play the part of the star. The Lutheran Church will also have a Christmas Eve service at 11 p. m.

Seal Sale Planned

Woodstock, Dec. 16—Mrs. Albert Montgomery will be stationed inside the post office on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 15, 16 and 17, from 3 to 5 p. m., to sell Christmas Seals for the drive of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Square Club to Meet

Woodstock, Dec. 16—There will be a meeting of the Woodstock Square Club Thursday, Dec. 17, at the fire hall at 8 p. m. The nominating committee will make its report which will be followed by the election of officers for 1954. Final plans will be made for the Town of Woodstock Christmas Eve Community Program, after which there will be motion pictures, refreshments and an hour of fellowship. Plans for the President's Dinner in January will also be discussed.

CONSTIPATED?

"I can't afford to lose any time at work. But when I was constipated, I just couldn't work because no laxative gave me the relief I wanted.

"Then a friend told me about Sal Hepatica. So I took some the next time I woke up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation. And, let me tell you, it was just what I was looking for. Why I felt like my old self again within about an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

High School Defeats Ellenville, 73-53, in Field House Opener

Pictorial Highlights of Inaugural Game at New Gym

Maroons Grab 2nd Straight DUSO Victory

Inaugural Falls Short of Sellout

Taut and tense in the early moments of the game, Kingston High's basketball varsity responded to a resplendent setting and a friendly audience to whip Ellenville High, 73-53, in the Kate Walton Field House inaugural last night.

A large turnout that fell short of 1500 capacity saw the Maroons fall behind 5-0 at the start, rally to a 10-9 lead and stay in front the rest of the way.

It was the second straight victory for the Maroons who are tied for the DUSO League with Poughkeepsie High (2-0) and Newburgh Academy (1-0).

Poughkeepsie High's altitudinous Blues moved into the forefront of the DUSO championship picture with a whopping 95-63 victory at Fallsburg. Kingston was able to beat the Comets by only 64-48 on the Sullivan boards.

Fallsburg held the Blues to a 15-15 stalemate in the first period but trailed 41-33 at halftime and disintegrated after the intermission. The Blues' one-two punch—Bob Dahowski (27) and Gary Mendez (22)—furnished 49 points. Lee Benton led Fallsburg with 12.

NFA Beats Beacon

Newburgh Academy defeated Beacon, 67-63, in a non-conference game at Beacon. Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski regained his scoring touch with 29 points and Harold Kaplan, hero of NFA's first win, rimmed 16. Dick Patterson hooped 22 for the Dutchess quintet.

Middletown High picked up its first DUSO win, 58-41, over Liberty as Bill Williams racked up 24 points for the Middies and Yankowitz had 12 for the Redskins.

Monticello's two scoring twins—Ronnie Tractenburg and Mendy Ringle accounted for 35 points to pace a 56-42 triumph over Port Jervis. Tractenburg hit 17 and Ringle had 18. Dick Beams led Port with 12.

Broadhead Hits 23

Skip Brodhead paced the Maroons with 23 points and it was his first period heroics that prevented the Ellies taking a commanding lead at the outset. The 15-year-old All-DUSO candidate scored 8 of Kingston's first 10 points.

Dick Bezemer contributed 14 points and John Godwin overcame a slow start to finish with 16 points. He was outstanding in the second period when Kingston moved from a 12-10 lead to a 34-24 edge at halftime. Bill Haber added 9 points and was superb in the rebound department.

Ellenville's Bob Pomeroy lived up to advance notices with 18 points. He murdered the Maroons with one-handers from the circle and either corner. The Ellies hit with a high percentage of their shots in the early going.

The Maroons, making their debut before a large crowd at the magnificent new field house, were obviously tense and over-eager in the early going. They missed a myraid of easy shots before Broadhead's steading influence enabled them to wipe out a 5-0 deficit.

Once the Kiasmen found their touch there was no question about their superiority. Early in the third period they widened their lead to 45-31, then 51-35. It was 60-40 going into the stretch when Coach Kias pulled all his regulars and finished with the second stringers.

With two straight wins under their belt, the Maroons travel to Liberty Friday night. After that comes the holiday recess until Jan. 8 when they go to Middletown.

Bob Smith Leads With 21 Points

Kingston High's Jayvees first to use the new Kate Walton Field House hardwoods celebrated with a 59-34 romp over the Ellenville Jayvees in last night's preliminary game. It was their second straight win.

Pressed in the first quarter when they led 9-7, Coach Gilligan's cagers rebounded with a 19-point second quarter to lead 28-16 at halftime.

The coach cleared his bench during a wild 24-point third period spree and the second stringers played the entire fourth quarter and still managed to eke out a 7-6 margin.

Smith Scores 21

Bob Smith was the scoring ace for Kingston with 21 points, nearly all of them acquired in the first half. Marty Kantrowitz, the tennis star, accounted for a half dozen deuces and Ronnie Ashdown hit with 9 points. Richie Strong racked up four fields.

Gallo paced Ellenville with 10 points.

Western Kentucky Survives Scare For 7th Straight

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—Western Kentucky, perennially one of the top collegiate basketball teams, got a scare from Cincinnati last night, but Ed. Diddle's boys managed to chalk up their seventh straight victory.

Led by Tom Marshall and Forest Able, the Hilltopers edged the Bearcats 74-71 and headed east in a jovial mood. They play in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday against St. Francis of Brooklyn, then jump to Buffalo to meet St. Bonaventure on Saturday.

Marshall caged 23 points and Able 18, sufficient to withstand a late Cincinnati rally.

Western, ranked 10th nationally in this week's Associated Press poll, had to share the limelight with Butler's 67-65 victory over Purdue and Duquesne's 72-70 squeak over Ft. Belvoir.

Led by Keith Greve who hit on three of five set shots in the last quarter, Butler knocked Purdue out of the unbeaten ranks. Altogether Greve scored 23 points.

Dukes in Squeaker

It took a corner basket by Si Green with only 15 seconds left to give Duquesne its victory. The game was billed as an exhibition for the Dukes, ranked third in the AP poll. Dick Groat, formerly of Duke, and the O'Brien twins, Johnny and Eddie of Seattle, played for Ft. Belvoir.

Iowa snapped a five-game winning streak for Colorado A&M 72-55 as Carl Cain contributed 21 points for the winners.

Yale piled up an early 45-29 lead to beat Brown 77-69 in an EIL game. Villanova and Seton Hall also won easily. Villanova took Princeton 68-56 and the Pirates sunk Providence 69-46.

Canisius, on a western trip, took an 84-51 trouncing from St. Louis while Nebraka and Missouri, of the Big Seven, also won handily.

Milt Dubin's 267 Ties All-Time GNL Record

Milt Dubin, who gained early sports fame as a basketball player, joined the Good Neighbor League Hall of Fame last night with a 267 single that tied the all-time league record.

But it was a night of ups and downs for the ex-KHS ace. From 267 he slipped to 129 and then rallied with 225 for a 621 series to pace the league. Of course, everybody in the house reminded him that if he had scored anything at all in that middle set he "woulda had a sure "700."

Elsewhere, the Booster League produced a new name in Joe Maiola who chacked 247 high single and an old one, Eddie Sohm, who fired 204-280-225-629 for high triple.

Eddie Heins took it all in the Central Rec League with 170-193-254-617.

Jim Howard Hits 579

Runnerup to Sohm in the Booster League was Jim Howard with 220-577. Floyd Hommel posted 216-573 and Pete Kowalenko had 552.

Ed Barrow Dies; Found Wagner, Developed Yanks

ED BARROW

Port Chester, Dec. 16 (AP)—Ed Barrow, the man who discovered Honus Wagner, changed Babe Ruth into an outfielder and developed the New York Yankees into the most feared team in baseball, died of cancer last night.

He was 85 years old last May. In July he entered Port Chester United Hospital. His close friends knew his death was only a question of time.

Barrow remained cheerful. His mind was clear and he continued to receive visitors. His physical condition continued to decline and early in November he lapsed into a coma for 36 hours. Then he rallied, began eating again and seemed improved until a relapse Sunday.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Barrow retired in 1947, selling his stock in the Yankees for $300,000. He was with the club for 26 years.

Born in Illinois

Born Edward Grant Barrow in Springfield, Ill., May 10, 1868, he was city editor of the Des Moines Leader when he first got into baseball as a semi-pro manager. He moved into organized ball as manager at Wheeling, W. Va., in the old Interstate League.

He was president of the International League for seven years before moving to Boston as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

Here he met Ruth, a left handed pitcher, and changed him into an outfielder.

"It was the biggest gamble I ever took in my life," Barrow admitted later, "but I never had reason to regret it."

Ruth was sold to the Yankees in 1920 and Barrow soon followed as business manager and secretary. Col Jake Ruppert was the president but everybody knew it was "Cousin Ed" who ran the club. Barrow took over as president when Ruppert died. In 1946 he became chairman of the board of directors when a syndicate headed by Larry McPhail bought the team.

Wagner His Joy

Wagner, a bow-legged Dutchman, was Barrow's pride and joy. He found him in Carnegie, Pa., throwing rocks and later sold him to Louisville as a shortstop. He admired many of the present day players including Phil Rizzuto of the Yanks, but he maintained Wagner was the greatest.

"I always thought he was a wonderful man," Wagner said when he learned of Barrow's death. "He did everything he could for the players. He was a great baseball man."

Wagner was one of many leading baseball figures who paid tribute to Barrow.

"I think Ed Barrow was really the greatest baseball man—everything considered—in my time," said Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Al Lang negotiated the first contract with Barrow to have the Yankees train in St. Petersburg, Fla., said he "considered him one of the four immortals of baseball, along with Connie Mack, Clark Griffith and Bob Quinn.

Players and executives of all generations echoed the praise of Barrow.

Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, called Barrow one of "the greatest baseball men I ever knew."

Italian Traffic Dangerous

Rome (AP)—Italian drivers last year killed one person for every 515 motor vehicles on their highways. This fatality rate is nearly three times as high as that in the United States and is believed to be the highest in the world. Most officials blame fast drivers, slow pedestrians, high-powered cars and five million bicycles, many with no lights. There is no speed limit in Italy.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano
Sports Editor

If the DUSO Sportswriters Association had its headaches with the 1953 All-DUSO football squad, wait until they get around to the 1953-54 basketball team!

In football it was 11 men out of 45 regulars. In basketball only five first stringers can be named from the same number—45.

All-DUSO basketball candidates have asserted themselves quickly in the infant season and it will take a lot of weeding to shave the final selections to the irreducible minimum of five.

Standouts at this early date are Skip Brodhead and Dick Bezemer of Kingston; the perennial Mickey Burkoski and Harold Kaplan, a new wizard, at Newburgh; Gary Mendez and Bob Dahowski of Poughkeepsie; Bill Williams and Rod Whitby of Middletown; Ivan Yankowitz of Liberty; Mendy Ringle and Ronnie Trachtenburg of Monticello; Bob Pomeroy of Ellenville; Jim Rankavage and Dick Beams of Port Jervis. That's quite an array of talent.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

New York football Giants reportedly seeking Vinnie Lombardi, Army line coach, to succeed Stout Steve Owen, but "Bo" Gill, who is close to the situation, says heavy pressure is being exerted to lure Coach Earl Blaik into the pro field. But there isn't a chance. George Carpouzis, former KHS star, has made the basketball varsity at Parris Island Marines. The jury has had a difficult time trying to evaluate Bevo Francis, the Rio Grande phenom. Jimmy Powers recently lauded Bevo for a topnotch shooting touch. Coach Joe Lapchick of the Knickerbockers says Bevo's ready for the NBA right now. But Hary Grayson, the hard bitten NEA sports editor, thinks a "fair to middlin'" man should hold him to a low total and compile a sizeable one while Bevo tries his hand at guarding. Bevo's 39 points against Villanova, a Class A power, should shatter that myth. Adelphi College was out to shackle Francis at any cost in his recent appearance at the Garden. They even triple-teamed him and "held" him to 32 points. Take a good look at Ezzard Charles on your TV screen tonight. It might be your last looksee at the former heavyweight champion.

• Versace on Top:

Phil Versace's 761 blast against Jones Dairy Saturday night was one of the most remarkable exhibitions of pocket blasting we ever witnessed. He fired 9-timers in the first and second sets and never strayed from the 1-3 pocket.

Phil's series scrambled the Hudson Valley League individual ratings as he moved to the top with a towering 207.10 for 42 games. Five others are in contention, making an unprecedented total of six "200" average men in the circuit and four other potential candidates among Harold Broskie, Frank Greco of Ellenville; George Baird and Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie.

After last week's action and Wally Gerken's 691 and Nick Leoce's 558, the top six read something like this:

	Games	Avge.
Phil Versace, PC	42	207.10
Larry Weishaupt, JD	36	204.25
Nick Leoce, NT	36	204.9
Wally Gerken, NT	42	204.2
Dick Howard, JD	42	201.3
Johnny Ferraro, JD	42	200.40

Jones Dairy's 3203 series qualified Ad Jones' pocket busters as the first "1000" average team in the history of the HVBL. They are now close to 1001 for 42 games. Incidentally, they gave the crowd quite a thrill in the middle set against the Cabs Saturday night with 15 strikes in a row. Their first 1200 game appeared in the making but they sloughed off in the final frames.

• Of Men and Mice:

Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club has set Jan. 30 as the date for its annual banquet at the Alpine. The committee in charge includes Harold Felton, Frank Ackerly and Gordon Hoffstetter. DUSO moguls recently turned down a movement to install a conference type basketball schedule next season. Coach Bill Burke says the new state rule providing 15 days of football practice, including Saturdays, before the first game will not make much difference at KHS. "It's just about what we have been doing and we had to count Saturdays to get in 15 or 16 workouts," he says. "What the new edict has done is to achieve uniformity at the various schools."

Off the Reservation

Dallas (AP)—When his military duties took Roland Goss to Bainbridge, Md., he was joined there shortly by Mrs. Goss and their little daughter, Janice. Soon after they arrived, Goss suggested it was time Janice resume saying her prayers before bed. Obediently she started: "Now I lay me down to sleep . . ." But suddenly she stopped. "It won't do any good," she announced. "I forgot to tell Jesus we were leaving Texas."

Royals Moving In Eastern Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The veteran-studded Rochester Royals are beginning to make their presence felt in the Western Division race of the National Basketball Association race.

Just when the defending champion Minneapolis Lakers threatened to make it a runaway, the Royals started clicking and now are only 1½ games behind.

Rochester gained a game on Minneapolis last night by defeating the Milwaukee Hawks 76-64 for sixth straight victory while the Lakers were losing to the New York Knicks 80-79 in overtime. In the only other game played the Boston Celtics trimmed the Fort Wayne Pistons 82-75.

Minneapolis, in losing to New York, dropped its second in a row after putting together a 10-game winning streak. The game was nip and tuck all the way with the Knicks squeezing through on Harry Gallatin's foul shot with 33 seconds left in the overtime period.

Carl Braun captured scoring honors for the victors with 29 points and George Mikan led the Lakers with 17.

Fitzgerald Hits 54 on Falls Court

Bill Fitzgerald scored 54 points as the Kingston All Stars routed High Falls, 100-62, at the High Falls court. He collected his harvest with 26 fields and two fouls.

Pete Battelle tallied 22 for the losers.

All Stars (100)—Bill Fitzgerald, f, 26; Ken Pangburn, f, 12; Red Smith, c, 7; Ed Lindhurst, g, 14; Lionel Kogan, g, 15; Joe Aiello, c, 2; Mike Perry, g, 4.

May Go to Movies

Hollywood, Dec. 16 (AP)—Julius La Rosa, the singer who was fired by Arthur Godfrey in the middle of a television show, may be headed for a movie career. He was signed yesterday by Paramount Pictures for a screen test. The studio announced that if the test is satisfactory La Rosa will be offered a long term contract. Godfrey ousted La Rosa on claims that the singer "lacked humility" and aws spending too much effort furthering his career independently.

Tries Too Often

Hamden, Conn. (AP)—A dog walked into a supermarket, carefully chose a candy bar and then walked out to eat it. Minutes later, it tried to repeat the act. Store attendants no longer thinking it cute, shooed him out.

Old Timers BB Association Elects McCardle President

John J. McCardle, who managed the Kingston All Stars for many years, was elected president of the Old Timers Baseball Association at the annual dinner meeting last night at Ray Amell's.

He succeeds Thomas M. Davitt, who completed a term as first president of the organization.

Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, was elected vice-president and Jack Hartman, former City Baseball League secretary, was named secretary-treasurer. All designations were unanimous.

Matty Deegan, Carl "Dutch" Glaser and Joe Hoffman were re-elected directors for a one-year term. The two new directors, Bernard A. Culloton and James "Babe" Volker were chosen for a two-year term.

Three Vets Honored

Guests of honor were Volker, Dewey Van Buren and Eddie Scherer who were presented with clocks. The presentations were made by President McCardle, Culloton and Davitt.

The guests responded with brief remarks. Obviously moved, Eddie Scherer expressed his deep appreciation for the honor of being a guest and thanked the Association for their interest in him during his recent illness.

Dewey Van Buren said it was wonderful to be an Old Timer and hoped that he could attend many more dinners in the future.

Members of the organization pledged their assistance to the Little League baseball program in the city and discussed plans for expansion. Forty members attended last night's fourth annual dinner.

Sea Witch Made Record

In 1850, the clipper ship Sea Witch went from New York to San Francisco around the horn in 97 days which was faster than any steamship of that day could make the trip.

Backs and Rapps Score Victories In Y 'B' League

Bob Kozlowski and Phil McCloskey generated the power as Rapp's Express routed J&E Milk Bar, 72-57, in the YMCA "B" League last night.

Back's Cedaraps turned back Village Rest, 65-57, with a big fourth quarter spurt in which they held a 20-9 margin.

Kozlowski hooped 25 points and McCloskey hit 23. Art Pinkham of the J&E was top scorer with 27 points and Harry Van Wagenen hit 15.

Huyler Van Wagenen, one of the more prolific scorers in the "B" circuit, canned 24 and Red Hinkley fired 16 for Back's. Don Ferraro's 18 and Jack Beaver's 11 sparked the Village Rest.

Pat Rosinski to Play At Palsy Center Party

Miss Pat Rosinski, accordionist, student of Roger Baer, will play for the annual Kiwanis sponsored United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County Christmas party.

Miss Rosinski made her TV debut two years ago on WRGB, Schenectady, on the Juvenile Jamboree program. She expects to appear on the Teen Age Barn program, on this same station, in the near future.

The party will be held Monday, Dec. 21 at the Cerebral Palsy Center, 400 Broadway, from 1:30 p. m to 4 p. m. Santa Claus will be there to distribute presents under the Christmas tree to all children attending.

Special decorations have been prepared in keeping with the season, and refreshments will be served during the party.

The fall migrations of Eagles and Egrets may take them north instead of south until winter turns them back.

Opening TB Booth in Central Post Office

The annual opening of the booth sponsored by the TB and Health Association took place at the Central Post Office Monday afternoon. Taking part in the ceremonies were, left to right, Mrs. John Decker, Catholic Daughters of America; Miss Alice Scardefield, annual chairman; and Mrs. Christopher Roche, Catholic Daughters of America. Christmas seals will be on sale at this booth through the holiday season. (Freeman photo)

Old Dutch Church Senior Choir to Give Special Music Service

The senior choir of the Old Dutch Church, Main and Wall streets, will present a special service of music appropriate to the Christmas season Sunday at 8 p. m. in the church.

The program will tell the Christmas story through the medium of readings and music. Because of the great significance of this time of year to all men, musicians have always found inspiration for their talents from stories in Scripture and verse relating to the birth of Christ. Some, like Handel with the Messiah, Saint-Saens with the Christmas Oratorio, and Bach with the Christmas Oratorio, have created gigantic works which stand as towers for the centuries.

Others, no less inspired than these musical giants, have created smaller works which have entered into the tradition and history of a people, and which we known today as Christmas Carols. God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen; Good Christian Men, Rejoice; and The First Nowell are examples of carols whose authors' names have been lost in history, but whose melodies we sing and love year after year.

From such a wealth of material, the program Sunday evening has been arranged. There will be favorite choruses and carols as well as some less familiar, but none the less beautiful, works. Carols from Austria, Poland, England, France, the Southern Appalachian region, and the Island of Haiti will be included. All of these have been woven together with passages from the Scriptures into a retelling of this greatest of all narratives, the Christmas story.

The choir will be directed by Donald Romme, Minister of Music; Roger Loughran will be the narrator; Mrs. Lester Decker, organist; and Mrs. Niles Bailey, pianist. Soloists for the service will be Elizabeth Larsen, June Crosby, Susan Danford, Mary Jo Haulenbeek, Gloria Simmons, Collette Sonnenberg, Torm Larsen, Donald Romme, and Jack Ostrander. The public is cordially invited.

Album, First Yearbook Of Onteora School, Prepared by Students

Sparking the Junior Christmas Prom was the intermission entertainment for the first yearbook, the Album, at Onteora Central School.

To publicize the issue of this book, members of the staff acted in a skit acting out the "Good Old Days." They were accompanied by a musical quartet from Woodstock, consisting of Clem Nessel, accordion; Richard Burlingame, banjo; John Pike, guitar; and David Huffine on the musical tub.

Others participating in the performance were: Dan Purfield, Joan Lane, Donald Locke, Joan Warnes, Dick Shultis, Caroline Draper, Louis Balter, Jean Whiting, Marileen Webster, Ledra Good and Ingrid Allerman.

The skit was presented first at a school assembly, Thursday, and for the third time last evening at P-TA meeting at the school.

Supervising the initial publication is Mrs. Kathryn Wagenfohr, with the art and layout. Bernard Stahl, directing the business staff and Maureen Davis the literary, are the other faculty advisors on the project.

This 80-page book, prepared as an old fashioned album, will contain original art work done in every detail by the students. They are working on the layout of the book, completing all but a few more technical details, themselves. When finished, the two-color pages will tell the story of the entire year's activities at the school, a record which will be of interest to every student.

The student staff includes: Ingrid Allerman, editor-in-chief; Ralph Elefant, assistant editor; Ursula Baum, Max Begener, Elizabeth Wagenfohr, art and typography; Aledra Good and Margaret Halstead, literary and social; Charles Craig and Joan Warnes, sports; Raymond Singer, photography; Anthony Minervini, advertising manager; Mary Osborn, business; Daniel Purfield, circulation; Joan Walder and Joan Van de Bogart, secretaries.

They will be aided by 19 junior apprentices on the yearbook staff.

Yesterday, Mrs. Wagenfohr and Miss Davis accompanied members of the staff to Albany, where they presented the first third of the book to the publisher. The students made a complete tour of the plant, learning about the technical progresses of layout and publication which will aid them in their work at school.

'What's in a Name'

Long Beach, Calif. (AP) — A pretty girl who was pinched (for speeding) got a wry laugh when she read the names of the two policemen on the ticket. The signatures read: Goforth and Ketchum! (Paul G. and Bruce).

In 1830 it took 3½ hours of human labor to produce a bushel of wheat, but by 1896 the time had been reduced to 10 minutes.

Fund-Raiser Tells How Professionals Fool Public Givers

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A professional fund-raiser has told New York legislative investigators that he sometimes impersonated a priest or a police representative in soliciting by telephone.

The solicitor, George Bieler, chuckled as he bared some of his methods under prodding at a joint Senate-Assembly committee hearing.

The committee, which continues its public hearings today, heard witnesses testify yesterday about their "boiler rooms"—batteries of telephone solicitors—with the promoters reaping much of the harvest.

The probers also were told that the names of prominent people had been used without their sanction in fund solicitations.

Committee Counsel Sidney Paymer said examples of this are U. S. Sens. Herbert H. Lehman (D-NY) and Irving M. Ives (R-NY), and New York Mayor-elect Robert F. Wagner, Jr.

Probing All Funds

The committee is investigating legitimate charity fund-raising activities, as well as rackets, with a view to proposing legislation.

Bieler admitted to the committee yesterday that he had been convicted and fined $250 in 1951 for soliciting funds without a license for the Bronx chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

The witness said he sometimes got as much as 60 per cent of the collections in various fund solicitations.

Paymer asked Bieler how he approached prospects on the telephone in asking donations for Sts. Peter and Paul Church House, in Manhattan.

"I told them I was a priest calling," the witness replied.

The witness was asked: "Did you say you were Father Clement? The reference was to Archbishop Clement Sherwood, head of the American Holy Orthodox Catholic Apostolic Eastern Church, an independent sect of which the church house is the chancery.

"Oh, no, Bieler replied. "I just said I was Father Alexander."

Archbishop Clement told a newsman last night that his church had employed fund-raisers on a commission basis for a brief period, but that for the past few years all this work has been done by volunteers.

Bieler told the probe committee he had solicited advertising over the telephone for the Superior Police Officers News, a publication of the New Jersey Superior Police Officers Assn.

The witness said he told prospects: "I am speaking for Lt. Michael Hanley of the association."

Bieler said he told prospects that the money was used to take children on picnics, buy television sets for hospitals, furnish relief to policemen's widows, and for other works of charity. He said he kept 35 per cent of the proceeds as commission and expenses.

Bieler said he once had 12 telephones operating in the Bronx Borough Hall in soliciting funds for the Bronx disabled American veterans group.

25 Persons Hurt In Bus Crackup

New York, Dec. 16 (AP)—A bus loaded with high school students crashed into an elevated pillar in the Bronx today, injuring about 25 persons. All were residents of the Bronx.

Police said the accident occurred when a tailgate flew off a private garbage truck and struck a side window near the front of the bus, causing the driver to lose control.

The bus hit the pillar at Webster avenue and Parkside place head on, crushing the front of the vehicle. Most of the 45 passengers were students en route to Evander Childs High School, on Gun Hill road. Police said passengers were thrown about the bus by the impact and that schoolbooks and lunches flew in all directions.

Fordham Hospital said that more than a score of persons were treated at the scene and at the hospital. Only one was reported in a serious condition.

Legion Head Says

translate them into positive, concrete works."

Samuels pointed out that the Legion was the only all-embracing veteran organization of both World Wars and the Korean conflict that made no differentiation among race, color or creed and was not limited to any particular branch of the service, nor to where that service was had.

"The American Legion, therefore, presents to every man and woman who served this country in time of war, a similar opportunity to serve this country in time of peace," he said.

Samuels listed Legion strength, a membership approximating three million veterans, a million "companions" in the auxiliary, almost 18,000 posts throughout the nation and vast wealth involved in post homes.

"Our strength, and our strength to serve our country and make this a stronger America, will depend on the strength we contribute to our individual communities and the strength we thus contribute will reflect in the strength we thus provide for our individual Legion posts," Samuels said.

Urges Good Example

"We must strive for and secure community confidence, and the specific way to do it is by devoting our time and our energies to active participation in our local governments, our local Red Cross, our local community chests, our local Boy Scout movement, our local Civilian Defense, fund-raising drives for the alleviation of the suffering by our neighbors from the dreaded diseases we know as polio, cerebral palsy, tuberculosis and cancer, and finally, by making it known by our actions that a good Legionnaire regularly attends the church of his choice."

"You who served your country were first in war," he said. "You can be first in peace through service to your community. Then you will become first in the hearts of your countrymen. Let us build the same confidence by America in the American Legion as the American Legion has in America."

Reports for Auxiliary

Mrs. Autenrith said she was very happy to be present and to have so many of her "official family" in attendance. She reported briefly on the work of the auxiliary in rehabilitation and child welfare, pointing out that the Veterans Administration hospitals were filled with disabled—some 20,000 in 12 hospitals in New York State—and paid tribute to the work of hospital volunteers. These hospital cases offer opportunities to every auxiliary to render service to the community, she said.

She said the auxiliary also sought to lessen prejudice against employment of the disabled veteran and had achieved considerable success in this area. She listed the challenges to the auxiliary in the fields of housing, employment, legislation etc.

Mrs. Autenrith pointed out that the hospitalized veterans enjoyed and needed visits from Legionnaires and the kind of "man-talk" they could provide and appealed for members of the Legion to provide this insofar as possible.

Goals for Year

She said the special goal of the auxiliary this year was mental health and juvenile delinquency, the latter a serious problem, and urged local auxiliaries to assist in every way possible. She also called attention to the need of Korean children for assistance, pointing out that this was an opportunity for the auxiliary to offer a considerable contribution.

She pointed out the importance of building membership and listed the Third District as "right on topp" in the membership drive.

She called attention also to the interest of the Legion Auxiliary in the "wooden church crusade," the rebuilding of churches along the Iron Curtain, churches destroyed during the last war.

Mrs. Mabel D. Weidner, president of the Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary, presented Mrs. Autenrith with a little golden "wooden church" for her charm bracelet.

Wharton Speaks

Congressman Wharton spoke briefly, expressing pleasure to be able to attend. He said Commander Samuels had been in touch with him from time to time, that he usually got what he went after but that he had a knack of leaving a pleasant taste in the mouth.

He said he had been a Legionnaire for about 30 years, that it had been a happy association, and pointed out that about 60 per cent of the House of Representatives were Legionnaires or ex-servicemen and that the Legion could be sure it would always be well represented.

He said his office in Washington would always be open to welcome Legionnaires, that the "welcome sign will always be out."

Clarance Brown, Ulster county commander, welcomed Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary. Invocation was by the Rev. Gordon Kidd. The meeting was opened by the singing of the Star Spangled Bannner by Mrs. John Spinnenweber. Bernhardt S. Kramer served as toastmaster.

Commander Samuels announced that the State Department Convention would be held in New York on the last three days in July, 1954.

Police immediately called the case a "sex crime," although the child had not been raped.

Irene was met by her killer while going to a store for her mother. She left her home about 7 p. m. When she had not returned three hours later her mother telephone a missing persons report to Policeman Michael Proccacino, who was on duty at police headquarters and, ironically, the policeman who found her body.

Malm admitted he choked the fifth grade grammar school girl with her scarf, Lieut. Sullivan said.

Malm had served a jail term in New London for what police called "a reign of terror" against young girls in that area. Two months after his release he was arrested and convicted of robbery with violence against a 17-year-old girl. He was sentenced to a Wethersfield State Prison term of 7 to 10 years.

Detectives said charges were not placed immediately against Malm in connection with Irene's slaying, but he is held on $50,000 bond on charges of indecent assault and assault and battery in connection with the November 22 case.

Poll Tax Relaxed

Birminham, Ala., Dec. 16 (AP)—Alabama voters yesterday apparently relaxed the nation's harshest poll tax requirements which have limited election rolls since 1901. Incomplete but probably conclusive returns showed approval for an amendment to the state constitution which would limit to $3 the amount of back poll taxes required to qualify a voter for primary on general elections. Heretofore, as much as $36 could be required.

working throughout the day have no opportunity to shop except during evening hours and we plan to have a big assortment of merchandise for these evening shoppers."

At a recent meeting of the Kingston Business Men's Association, at which the evening shopping date was fixed, the matter of closing on Christmas eve, December 24, was also discussed. In order that clerks might be home early on Christmas eve, it was voted to close at the usual 5 o'clock hour Christmas eve.

Stores which observe Monday closing hours throughout the year will also remain open next Monday and remain open until 9 p. m.

Greenlease Killers

Sept. 28 in Kansas City.

Money Is Enigma

The only enigma of the kidnap killing left is what happened to half of the $600,000 ransom paid by Bobby's multi-millionaire father, Robert C. Greenlease, Kansas City auto dealer.

The missing money—which Hall has insisted he had with him when arrested in St. Louis the night of Oct. 6—has become the object of an inquiry by a federal grand jury at Kansas City, the FBI and the St. Louis Police Board.

At Kansas City, U. S. District Attorney Edward Scheufler said the grand jury investigating the missing $300,000 Greenlease ransom money has turned up some new evidence.

Evidence 'Enlightening'

"I can say to you that we have uncovered some very enlightening and very interesting evidence," he commented at the end of yesterday's session. "That's all I can say at this time."

The jurors heard from four policemen and a civilian employe who were on duty at a St. Louis police station the night Hall was brought in.

The grand jury renewed its inquiry into the case to determine whether any witnesses called before it in a pervious investigation committeed perjury in ther testimony on the money and the Hall arrest.

Foreign Postage Rates Have Been Increased

Postmaster William R. Kraft today issued a reminder that postal rates on all mail addressed to foreign countries, except Canada and Mexico, has increased from five to eight cents an ounce.

Some persons, apparently unaware of the increase, have forwarded mail with only enough postage to cover the former mailing rate, he said.

The rate for Canada and Mexico is three cents an ounce, the same as in this country.

ther custody of prisoners beyond Jan. 22 he would have no alternative but to release them or return them to the former detaining side."

American officials said the UN Command never would agree to extend the Indians' custody beyond the date set in the Korean armistice for freeing all prisoners who have refused repatriation. The Indians are guarding about 22,500 pro-Communist and anti-Communist prisoners in Korea's demilitarized zone.

If the Indians should turn prisoners back to their captors, allied officials said 22,300 anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans would be promptly freed.

Callanan Is Defendant

The Callanan Road Improvement Company has been named defendant in a $50,000 action in Albany Supreme Court as a result of an accident in August 1951 when a car operated by Venerino Colao of Bronx struck a raised man hole during repaving work on an Albany street. Other claims amounting to $8,000 are also made against the company.

Warmer-Than-Usual Is Month's Forecast

Washington, Dec. 16 (AP)—The weather bureau predicts it will be warmer than usual from mid-December to mid-January in the western third of the country, in the northeast and the lower Great Lakes section.

In its 30-day outlook, the bureau said last night below normal temperatures are indicated in the south and the midwest. Temperatures in other areas are expected to average close to normal.

The outlook added:

"Precipitation in excess of normal is anticipated over and east of the Appalachians and along the Gulf coast.

Subnormal amounts are expected west of the continental divide and in the middle Mississippi valley, with near normal elsewhere."

The answers to everyday insurance problems

By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: We've heard that when we buy a new car the insurance on our old car can be made to cover the new one. Does this mean both cars are insured under the same policy.

ANSWER: Absolutely not! If you sell or trade your old car, the insurance can be transferred to the new one but if you keep the old car, a separate policy must be issued for each car.

• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Scientsts Were Wrong

During the depression 1930s, scientists estimated that U. S. population would level off at about 154 million people, but the nation now has more than 160 million.

Name Was Omitted

The name of Sylvia Staub of 69 Green street, Kingston, was omitted from the list of those admitted to citizenship before Justice Harry E. Schirick in Supreme Court on Monday. Leslie Clifford and Laura Karley, who had previously been admitted to citizenship, sponsored their daughter Sonia Carmen Karley, who was admitted to citizenship.
